White House Talks On Strategies for Viet Nam Continue

No Conclusions Reached for Money, Troop Commitments

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House conferences continue today on Viet Nam strategy and the demands it may make in manpower and money.

No conclusions have been announced, but already in Congress the feeling appeared to be spreading that expanded fighting may force another look at the budget and derail any program to wrap up President Johnson's domestic legislation by Labor Day and go home.

For the third straight day Johnson's schedule was given over to intensive talks with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who returned Wednesday from Viet Nam, and other top military and civilian officials.

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said after Thursday's all-day session there was no telling how long the talks will continue, but "conclusions and recommendations will be forthcoming after all the evidence, including

Woman With Pierced Head Still Critical

NEW YORK (AP) — Frances Levin, the secretary whose head was pierced by a wooden pole, remained in critical condition today at St. Clare's Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said Thursday that more telephone inquiries have been made about Miss Levin's condition than any other emergency patient ever brought there.

The 3-foot window pole fell from the ninth floor of a Times Square building Tuesday and struck Miss Levin.

Long Fight Anticipated

Senate Battling Dirksen Redistricting Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was caught up today in a battle over Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen's proposed constitutional amendment on legislative reapportionment.

The fight may be a lengthy one. Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said, "I'm not as optimistic as I was" about adjourning by Labor Day. "This could throw a roadblock in the way."

The amendment to overturn the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote decision of last year would permit one house of state legislatures to be apportioned on the basis of geography and political subdivisions as well as population if the people approved in a referendum.

Dirksen got the issue before the Senate by calling up a reso-

House Votes to Double Funds For Antipoverty

Slow-Going Is Expected When Bill in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to double — to $1.9 billion — the funds authorized for President Johnson's antipoverty program.

But the legislation the House passed Thursday despite Republican efforts to limit it faces slow going in the Senate, where it may have to compete for right-of-way with a controversy over reapportionment of state legislatures.

The victorious House Democrats had their closest call when Republicans fought to retain in the law a provision giving governors the right to veto certain poverty projects. The bill would eliminate this veto power, which opponents said is arbitrary and discriminatory and has enabled some state executives to override the wishes of local communities in shaping programs.

Veto Power

A Republican-backed amendment to continue the veto power lost 155 to 150 on a nonrecord vote and then 227 to 178 on a roll call.

On passage of the bill itself the vote was 245 to 158, with 24 Republicans joining 221 Democrats to make up the majority. 110 Republicans and 48 Democrats voting against.

Republicans argued that the program in its year of existence has become entangled in local politics and patronage and has been poorly administered.

One proposed amendment, which was defeated, would have barred the administrator of the program from holding any other federal job. Sargent Shriver, chief of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), also is director of the Peace Corps.

There were unsuccessful attempts to cut the funds, tighten state control over programs and clip the authority of the OEO.

Two of the farthest ranging of the poverty programs are the Job Corps, which under the bill would provide training and basic education in residential camps for 80,000 youths, and VISTA, the so-called domestic Peace Corps, which would enroll 5,000 volunteers to work on antipoverty projects in 200 communities.

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — scene was chaotic at the cemetery, where thousands jammed the grounds, trampling graves and knocking over tombstones.

The demonstrators cheered wildly as Papandreu entered the cathedral where the body of 25-year-old Sotirios Petroulias lay. Petroulias was asphyxiated Wednesday night during a battle between police and thousands of Papandreu supporters in which more than 150 persons were injured.

U. S. Increases Air Strikes on Viet Cong Bases

Marine Killed on Failure to Answer Sentry's Challenge

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States stepped up its air strikes against suspected Viet Cong positions in South Viet Nam today and flew at least six bombing missions against North Viet Nam, a military spokesman announced.

U.S. 7th Fleet ships continued offshore bombardments of Communist installations. The Navy appeared to be playing an increasing role in the Vietnamese war.

The spokesman said two Americans were killed today, one in a plane crash and one when he failed to answer a sentry's challenge. Another American died in a plane crash Thursday night.

Plane Crash

The spokesman said a U.S. Air Force observation plane crashed 50 miles south of Da Nang while directing strikes in the area. The pilot and a Vietnamese observer were killed after their plane had dropped smoke on a target, pulled up and then stalled, according to observers.

A U.S. Marine in the Da Nang area, 380 miles north of Saigon, was killed before dawn when he failed to answer a sentry's challenge, the spokesman said. The Marine was investigating suspicious noises.

The pilot of an A1E Skyraider was killed Thursday night when his plane apparently was shot down while on a mission 260 miles northeast of Saigon in Binh Dinh Province.

U.S. Air Force and Vietnamese war planes flew 165 sorties against Viet Cong concentrations and other facilities believed used by the guerrillas, the spokesman said.

For the second straight day, B57 jets blasted an area in the central highlands area east of Pleiku. The spokesman said a number of guerrillas were believed killed.

Another target was an encampment 45 miles southeast of Saigon, where 400 Viet Cong were believed to be. However, F100 pilots flying strikes against the position said they did not see any guerrillas during the raids.

Bill Passes Through Both Houses by Large Majorities; Up Revenues $73.7 Million

MADISON (AP) — Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles will sign into law today a budget-revenue compromise that ends the long political feud over state finances and does it with income tax increases he pledged to oppose.

The bill sets Wisconsin's state budget for 1965-67 at a record $824.2 million. It is $171.7 million more than spent in the two-year period ending June 30.

New Taxes total $73.7 million. Income tax increases will net $52.4 million, a two cents a pack boost in cigarette taxes $16.6 million, and a franchise tax on financial institutions and other corporations $4.7 million.

The tax-budget bill is expected to reach Governor Knowles shortly after noon and he said he will sign it immediately.

There was no debate in the Democratic-controlled Assembly where the vote was 70-28. But the Republican-dominated Senate spent 80 minutes listening to individual explanations before the bill cleared on a 22-10 roll call.

Sen. Leland McParland, D-Cudahy, a member of the 12-member bipartisan committee that drafted the compromise, called the final product a "monstrosity." He was one of five Senate Democrats to oppose the measure.

Sen. Gerald Lorge of Bear Creek, one of the five GOP dissenters, said wage earners in the lowest income brackets would bear the brunt of the income tax increase.

Other senators opposed were Democrats Taylor Benson of Franksville, Casimir Kendziorowski of Milwaukee, Joseph Lourigan of Kenosha, and Wilfred Schuele of Milwaukee; Republicans Chester Dempsey of Hartland, Ernest Keppler of Sheboygan, Alex Meunier of Sturgeon Bay, and Gordon Roseleip of Darlington.

The increase in income tax rates will be one-fifth of one percent this year and next. The top rate of 10 per cent on earnings in excess of $15,000 is not increased, but the boost, otherwise, is across the board.

The higher rate amounts to about $2 on each $1,000 of taxable income.

This year the increase is retroactive to Jan. 1. Since pay-check withholding rates do not cover the increase applied to the first seven months of 1965, most taxpayers will owe the state some money next April.

Deducted from the new revenue total is $6.1 million that will be lost through a shift to a simplified income tax return. Knowles asked for the new form, and also insisted on cutting personal property taxes 10 per cent, or a total of $10.7 million.

Lord Home Resigns

New Leader Sought For Conservatives

LONDON (AP) — With Edward Heath and Reginald Maudling the leading contenders, Britain's Conservative party began preparations today to elect a new party leader.

Former Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home laid down the party reins Thursday night, bowing to criticism that has counts against him. And his more vocal supporters upset other Conservatives with pressing demands that Douglas-Home step down.

Treasury Chief Maudling, former treasury chief, has the right family man image, with an attractive actress wife, a pretty daughter with her own stage ambitions and three schoolboy sons.

He is quoted at events in the handbooks, stake a pound to win a pound.

On the negative side he has failed to show up strongly in recent debates, and some of his best friends think him too amiable to make an effective leader.

Soames, the outside shot at 25-1, would be the choice of the party traditionalists. Unlike Heath and Maudling, he came to politics from Eton and the Coldstream Guards, and his link with Churchill could be a vote catcher.

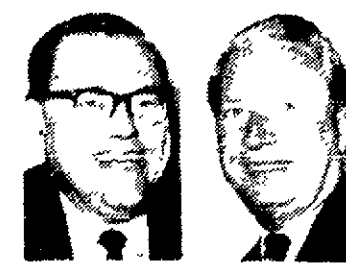

Both Heath, 49, and Maudling, 48, are formidable opponents in the battle to win the support of a decisive majority of the party's 303 members in the House steadily mounted since the Labor party defeated his forces in the October general election. He had succeeded Harold MacMillan as party leader and prime minister in October 1963.

Match For Wilson

The Conservatives are looking for a man to match Prime Minister Harold Wilson's rapier tongue in the daily cut and thrust of debate in Commons. The party has no deep ideological divisions, but younger members especially felt Douglas-Home lacked both drama and a needed streak of ruthlessness.

Heath, a foreign policy expert regarded as Douglas-Home's protegee and one of the fiercest debaters in Commons, was the front runner in London's betting handbooks at odds of 4-6, meaning a backer had to stake 6 pounds to win 4.

Stage Set in Thailand

Viet Nam--Only a Curtain Raiser?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Costly and bloody though it is, the war in Viet Nam may be only the curtain raiser of a struggle involving all Southeast Asia.

Red China even now may be ready to activate a new front. This may depend upon whether Peking believes the Communists in Viet Nam are close to victory or to a settlement which would mean exclusion of the U.S. presence.

The stage for the new front is being set in Thailand. Two organizations already exist there, the Thailand Patriotic Front and the Thailand Independence Movement. The patriotic front likely would have a role similar to that of the National Front for Liberation of South Viet Nam, formed in 1960 as a political cover for the Viet Cong. The independence movement would be similar to the Viet Cong guerrilla organization.

Leaders of the patriotic front now are in Red China. These include Phayone Chulanont, described by Peking as a lieutenant colonel; Mon Kon Nanakon, who calls himself "liaison delegate of the Thailand Independence Movement;" and Mrs. Quinim Pholsena. She is not a Thai but the widow of a leftist foreign minister of Laos who was assassinated in 1963.

Mon has been broadcasting to Thailand, issuing violent diatribes against the government of Premier Thanom Kittikachorn and "the U.S. imperialists." He says the war in Viet Nam is "similar to our struggle against the U.S. imperialists."

Peking evidently is financing a big propaganda drive against the Thai government through a clandestine radio called "Voice of Thailand."

This campaign began to gather steam late in 1964, adding to Thailand's troubles in its impoverished northeast provinces, a dust bowl region close to the Communist Pathet Lao area. The government says Chinese agents infiltrate regularly across the Mekong River. In December, the Communist propaganda announced formation of an independent national movement.

Death Recalls Court's Vital Anarchy Decision

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Communists despised him, Benjamin Gitlow was a nobody to most Americans when he died this week in New York at 74. Yet, he was anything but a nobody.

He was given an imperishable place in American history 40 years ago for a reason he couldn't have imagined at the time.

The Supreme Court's decision in his case in 1925 — he had been convicted of criminal anarchy — was one of the half-dozen or so most important opinions the court has ever given.

Ironically, because it did him no good, at the very moment of turning him down the court threw in a few paragraphs which opened the way for it later to protect individual liberties from intrusion by the states.

Gitlow started out as a Socialist, broke away, helped found the American Communist party and later was twice its vice-presidential candidate.

For a decade he was one of its top leaders, made three trips to Moscow, was honored by the Kremlin, broke with Stalin in 1929 over Russian dictatorship, was thrown out of the party, and became a dedicated anti-Red.

The event which put him in the history books began in 1919 when he and some others published the "Left-Wing Manifesto" at a time when a New York law forbade "advocacy of criminal anarchy."

The manifesto called for mass strikes and establishing a "dictatorship of the proletariat." He was accused, and found guilty, of advocating the overthrow of the government by force.

State interference. Up until then the court had been the great protector of property but not the protector of the individual's right of freedom of speech from state interference.

In ruling against Gitlow the court said he had advocated changing the government by unlawful means and wasn't preaching an "abstract doctrine." That was the reason for upholding his conviction.

(His sentence had been five to ten years but he was finally pardoned.)

But then, in a few paragraphs which did not apply to Gitlow or help him, the court made a few statements which were to change its course in protecting freedom of speech.

The Constitution's 1st Amendment, while forbidding Congress to abridge freedom of speech, religion and assembly, doesn't forbid the states to do so.

The amendment had been intended in the first place to protect states and their citizens from the federal government.

But in 1868 the 14th Amendment was added to the Constitution and said states can't deprive citizens of life, liberty or property without "due process of law."

If the court ever needed any excuse to link the 1st and 14th Amendments together — and thus protect freedom of speech from both state and federal infringement — it could have done so easily any time after 1868.

It preferred to protect property by linking the two amendments until the Gitlow case. And there the court threw in the statement that the liberty mentioned in the 14th Amendment included freedom of expression.

It added that the Constitution, nevertheless, didn't confer an "absolute right to speak without responsibility." So, it said, the freedom of speech can't be abused.

From this decision in Gitlow's case the court went on — but slowly — to protect freedom of speech although it's had some trouble making up its mind sometimes on just how free freedom of speech could be.

Justice Hugo Black insists the freedom of speech guaranteed by the Constitution is "absolutely

Water Problem Study to Begin In Appleton

Public Works Head, Superintendent Will Begin Research

Robert W. Bues, public works director, and William Gallagher, water superintendent, will meet Monday to start planning the consolidation of all studies and recommendations concerning Appleton's water problem.

The two officials Tuesday were asked by the board of public works to prepare a condensed report for the council's consideration. Two Chicago consulting firms, hired by the city to prepare feasibility studies, have recommended Lake Michigan as the No. 1 choice for a future water supply and have advocated a joint effort by Fox Valley communities.

Little Interest

However, other communities have shown little interest. Most now draw their supply from Lake Winnebago and consider it adequate for the future.

Lake Winnebago has been recommended as a second choice for Appleton as a temporary supply.

A report from the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission technical committee advises that Appleton go to Lake Winnebago for its source now. The Wolf River Basin Regional Planning commission has recommended Lake Michigan.

Urges Action

Bues has urged immediate council action because water consumption is increasing faster than the ability of the existing facilities to treat water.

It would take three to five years for the project whether the city went to Lake Winnebago or to Lake Michigan. The present water supply is the Fox River which is adequate as far as quantity but is lacking in quality and treatment costs are high.

Cost of a Lake Winnebago project have been roughly estimated at $2 million and $12 million to $15 million for Lake Michigan.

Outagamie Sheriff Asks for More Part-Time Personnel

Spice Requests Investigator be Appointed for Night Shift Work

Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice today asked the county board's courts, justice and enforcement committee for additional part-time personnel and the appointment of an investigator to a night shift to work with the part-time help.

Spice's request was the result of a controversy between himself and the committee against the county board's executive committee about overtime pay for investigators who answer complaints and conduct investigations after their regular working day ends at 5:30 p.m.

There are four investigators in the sheriff's department who work five nine-hour days weekly. Their regular five days gives them a 45-hour week, but the 48-hour total accumulates when they give the county the first three hours of night calls.

Becomes Overtime

Anything which totals more than three hours at night brings the weekly total over 48 hours and becomes overtime.

The dispute started over payment of overtime for three investigators who have accumulated substantial overtime hours since Jan. 1, but haven't been paid.

Sheriff's Lts. Jack Zuelke has 109 hours, Russell Bowers, 84 hours, and Joseph Vander Oever, five hours.

The executive committee has ruled that the three men can be paid their hourly rate of $2.50 per hour for all hours over 40 hours, but that they should be given compensatory time off for the balance of the hours.

"Vicious Circle"

Spice claims, however, that by giving the men hours off instead of overtime pay, he is forced to send other investigators out on an overtime basis "which just causes a vicious circle."

The executive committee also ruled that in the future it will refuse to authorize any additional overtime pay. As a result, the courts, justice, and enforcement committee told Spice today that he would have to give his investigators time off for the hours accumulated so far and for future overtime hours.

In an attempt to help unsnarl the problem, the committee this morning authorized Spice to use part-time deputy sheriffs to serve civil process papers "whenever necessary" instead of Undersheriff Norbert Marx.

Could be Used

Then Marx could be used to help the investigators when they are short-handed because of the time-off problem, committee chairman John Schreiter said.

In a letter to the committee, Spice said today: "The recent decision by the executive committee regarding overtime for investigators, compels me to make the following request:

"That three uniformed deputies be added to the staff of the sheriff's department. These men would be trained to handle all calls, complaints, etc., pertaining to the department."

PHS to Check Sewage Plant

Appleton Facilities, Others Built With Grants to be Audited

A performance audit of operation of the Appleton sewage treatment facilities will be conducted by a staff engineer of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare at 11 a.m. Aug. 2, according to the office of Mayor Clarence Mitchell.

The Public Health Service, in cooperation with the Wisconsin Board of Health, is conducting surveys of plant maintenance and operation at all local sewage treatment facilities constructed with the aid of federal grants.

A $1.5 million addition to the Appleton plant was constructed in 1962-63 with the aid of a $250,000 federal grant. A $1,284,000 bond issue covered the rest of the costs.

Information sought in the audit includes details of treatment, downstream checks of pollution and operating cost records. The release from R. J. Schneider, chief, construction grants section, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, stated "The purpose of the survey is to obtain factual information concerning plant maintenance and operation that will be beneficial to both local and state agencies as well as the Public Health Service."

In the Senate, three members were appointed to a conference committee set up to settle differences between Assembly and Senate versions of a bill appropriating $400,000 for new college institutions in the Racine-Kenosha area and in north-eastern Wisconsin.

They were Republican Sens. Walter Hollander of Rosendale and Holger Rasmussen of Spooner and Democratic Sen. Taylor Benson of Franksville.

Thieves Take Equipment at Junior High

Basketballs, sweatshirts, about 30 phonograph records, some marking pencils, tools and some small change were taken sometime Wednesday night during a break-in at Roosevelt Junior High School, 318 E. Brewster St.

According to Appleton police, who were investigating the break-in today, the thieves apparently were young people, possibly students at the school. They broke a window in the metal shop on the north side of the building, opened a window latch and crawled into the building.

They found a master key, apparently, and used it to open up cabinets in the athletic coaches' equipment room. The sports equipment, tools and sweatshirts were taken from cabinets in the equipment room.

The change was taken in the girl's rest room where the thieves broke open dispensing machines, took the coins and threw the machines' contents about the floor.

The thieves also tried to force their way into locked classrooms, but were unsuccessful.

The boy was dead on arrival at the hospital. Doctors said he died of internal injuries and a possible broken neck.

Hearing Set On Change in Breakwater

NEENAH—A hearing on a proposed change in a controversial breakwater planned by a resident in the Waverly Beach area of Lake Winnebago has been set for Aug. 11 in the courthouse, Appleton.

Clem Weinandt had applied to the Public Service Commission on Wisconsin for a permit to build and maintain a breakwater adjacent to Waverly Beach Resort. After the permit was issued and construction begun, some 28 persons and groups including the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, State Board of Health and State Department of Resource Development, sought a further hearing to determine whether the structure was being built in accordance with the permit and plans approved by the commission and whether a time limit should be set for project completion.

Petitioners felt construction was taking too long, over a year, and that the breakwater did not conform to PSC regulations.

At a hearing June 9 in Appleton, exhibits were requested of Weinandt and further proceedings planned after they were received by the commission.

July 2 the PSC contacted the petitioners and asked their approval of a smaller area to be enclosed and in a different location, about 200 feet east of the proposed structure.

The August hearing now will be limited to the planned change.

Baker Kills Two, Self in Milwaukee
MILWAUKEE (AP)—An immigrant Greek baker, sought in a pair of slayings Thursday, shot himself to death today as police tried to force their way into the dingy apartment in which he had taken refuge.

George Argires, 45, shot himself in the right ear with a .22 caliber revolver as a Greek-speaking detective argued with him through a locked door.

Argires had been sought in the shooting of Mrs. Frank Econom, 45, and Tom Kinos, 76. Detective George Katskes, one of the officers who went to the apartment, said he told Argires in Greek: "We want to take you in for investigation."

"I killed two people," Katskes said Argires replied in Greek, "I don't want to hurt you."

Katskes tore a rusty screen from a window frame in an effort to enter the apartment. Police heard a shot.

Kinos, also a Greek immigrant, was shot to death in a downtown Greek coffee house Thursday by a gunman who police said telephoned an attorney to tell him his sister-in-law had also been slain.

The victims were Tom Kinos, 73, a retired shoe shine shop operator born in Greece, and Mrs. Stella Econom, 58.

Police said Kinos was shot three times in the head with a .22 caliber revolver as he started to leave a second-floor coffee house in downtown Milwaukee.

Officers found the body of Mrs. Econom after her brother-in-law, Lee C. Econom, an attorney, reported he received a telephone call relating both slayings.

The woman had been bludgeoned to death, police said. No weapon was found at the scene.

74,517 Cars Cross Bridge Over July 4
GREEN BAY—A total of 74,517 vehicles crossed the two-lane U.S. 41 bridge over Lake Butte des Morts near Oshkosh during the July 4 holiday weekend. LeRoy Empey, district highway engineer for the state highway commission, said today.

The count includes figures from 6 p.m. July 2 to noon July 6, Empey said. The July 4 holiday count was below the 77,243 Memorial Day weekend figures for a similar period. Both totals are for vehicles crossing the bridge in both directions.

Winnebago County state legislators yesterday introduced an amendment to the Highway Building bill calling for a second two-lane bridge across the lake.

In introducing the amendment, Assemblyman William A. Steiger (Rep., Oshkosh) called the bridge "one of the worst bottle-necks in the entire Wisconsin highway system."

Byrnes Proposal Part Of Medicare Package

Congressman's Plan Allows Doctor-Bill Insurance Through Matched Contributions

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Unwavering efforts of Eighth District Rep. John W. Byrnes (R-Green Bay) to provide voluntary health insurance in the Medicare program are responsible for the doctor-bill insurance provision included in new Social Security legislation.

Credit for the provision, which permits all persons 65 and older to contribute $3 monthly to be matched by the government to cover doctor-bill insurance and numerous other self-benefits, has been given Byrnes by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which reported the original measure.

Voluntary Basis
The Green Bay legislator, who is the top GOP member of the Ways and Means Committee, originally introduced a substitute bill, which would have put the entire Medicare program on a voluntary basis to be paid out of the government's general funds instead of adding Social Security taxes to finance it.

Failing to obtain passage of the substitute bill, Byrnes concentrated on getting the doctor-bill insurance proposal into the Administration's Medicare program.

Specifically, the doctor-bill insurance bill would pay 80 per cent of the doctor bills after the first $50, which must be paid by the individual.

80 Per Cent
The remaining 80 per cent of the doctor bills will be paid whether the doctor treats a patient at home, in a hospital, in his office or in a clinic.

Byrnes pointed out the original Administration bill had no provisions to take care of doctor and dental expenses.

The Medicare program is only one part of Social Security legislation which will come before the House next week. Other sections of this legislation include changes in Social Security benefits.

Authors Changes
Here also Congressmen Byrnes was given credit by Chairman Mills for authoring two major changes in Social Security law.

The first of the items proposed by Byrnes would permit Social Security old age payments to persons over 72 years old who previously had not worked long enough under Social Security regulations to receive benefits.

If a widow or her husband had made Social Security payments for three quarters of a year (nine months) since 1937, the widow would be eligible to receive $35 a month in old age benefits under the proposal.

Receive Benefits
Under the old regulations, six quarters of working were necessary to receive any benefits.

Another benefit under the new bill, which Mills called the "Byrnes Proposal," would permit everyone to deduct 50 per cent of hospital insurance premiums for income tax purposes.

The present regulation is that the total medical and dental bill, including hospital insurance premiums, must be 3 per cent or more of a taxpayer's net income.

Appleton Man Gets 20 Days for Bad Conduct

'Semi-Threatening' Gesture Made at Telephone Worker

Duane L. Kroenke, 32, 702 N. Oneida St., was sentenced to 20 days in the Outagamie County Jail Thursday afternoon on a disorderly conduct charge.

He appeared in County Court, Branch 2, on a charge which stemmed from an incident early Thursday morning when he made a "semi-threatening gesture" with a .22 caliber at a Wisconsin Telephone Co. worker.

Kroenke told Judge Gustave J. Keller that he was acquainted with the two women who allegedly were victims of rapes one week ago. He said he mistakenly thought the telephone company worker fit the description of a man who allegedly committed the assaults.

The incident occurred at 2:10 a.m. at the intersection of N. Ballard Road and E. Wisconsin Avenue, just outside the Appleton city limits.

Saw Car Stop
Ronald Geurts, 1408 N. Leona St., told Appleton Police and Outagamie County Sheriff's Lt. Joseph VanderOver that when he came up from a manhole where he had been working, he saw a car stop near him.

The man got out, Geurts said, and told him, "Hold it, Buddy." After Geurts asked Kroenke what he wanted, he was told, "I want to look at your face." Then Kroenke told Geurts that he was "the wrong guy."

Geurts said Kroenke was holding a "Luger-type pistol" during the incident.
A few minutes later Appleton police found Kroenke's car parked and locked at the Auto Mat Auto Wash, 1714 E. Wisconsin Ave. While police were searching around the building Kroenke approached them, walking east on Wisconsin Avenue. He had a pistol and a holster in his hand.

Dropped Pistol
Police told Kroenke to drop the pistol to the ground which he did. He was then taken to the police station for questioning and then to the county jail where he was booked on a disorderly conduct charge.

Kroenke told Judge Keller Thursday morning that he always carries the pistol in the trunk of his car because he often fires it when he travels "up north."

Judge Keller continued the case until 2:30 p.m. Thursday when Kroenke was sentenced.

Senate Okays New SAC Appointees

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—Hopes of north-eastern Wisconsin boosters for the establishment of a state park in their neighborhood were encouraged Wednesday when the state senate unanimously approved a bill directing the state conservation department to plan such a facility at Thunder Mountain, Marinette County.

The measure now goes to the state assembly for review.

Sponsored by Sen. Reuben LaFave of Oconto and Assemblyman Robert Haase of Marinette, the idea has been presented in past legislatures without success.

The enabling act would require the conservation commission to list the project in its priorities list for recreational land acquisition under the new Outdoors Recreation Act program.

The conservation department advised the legislature that it could make no estimate of the fiscal consequences of the bill because it had not planned a park in that section of the state and has made no surveys there.

ing to police work and also could assist the traffic police in times of need. They would be assigned to the night shift along with a trained investigator.

"Action Imperative"
"It is imperative," Spice stated, "that some action be taken at once to insure the protection of persons and property during the night hours for the citizens of Outagamie County."

"The decision with regard to overtime by the executive committee," he said, "restrains me from allowing any overtime to accumulate over 80 hours and this 80 hours must be taken in time off."

"With the number of complaints and the small staff," Spice concluded, "working conditions will not allow men to give these men time off, therefore, the above request has been made with the hope you will give this favorable attention."

No action was taken by the committee this morning on Spice's request.

The executive committee has asked the courts, justice and enforcement committee to make a study and a review of the work-load and assignments in the sheriff's and traffic police departments before any recommendations are made.

Brillion Marine Hit in Viet Nam War

BY JOAN COENEN
Post-Crescent Correspondent

BRILLION — "Mom and Dad, I'm real happy for you. Treat him very good and show him how good and clean Uncle Sam and Americans — especially those around Brillion — are. Never, never hold anything against him. I hope I can get home during his stay there to meet him."

These words were written by Marine 2nd Lt. Gerald Miller, 23, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, route 1, Brillion, as he traveled from Okinawa to South Viet Nam early in July. Lt. Miller had just learned that his parents would be hosts to Brillion's first foreign exchange student, Bui Quang-Thach, a citizen of South Viet Nam province of Ninthuan and city of Phanrang.

Wounded By Sniper
Lt. Miller arrived in Viet Nam July 4 and the following Sunday, while leading his troop of 40 men out, was shot in the chest by a sniper. The bullet went thru his lung just one inch from his heart.

The Millers received word just this week about their son being wounded.

"My husband and I are flying to the hospital at San Diego on Monday to see Jerry," stated Mrs. Miller. "We don't know exactly how critical his condition is. When he was shot there was another marine right next to him. Thank God! This man called for aid. Jerry spent two days at a small Saigon hospital where he had numerous blood transfusions. From there he was transferred to a larger hospital in the Philippines and then was flown to a Navy hospital at San Diego."

"Gerald's bride of seven short months, Lynn, is living in Ocean Side, Calif., 30 miles from the San Diego hospital. She is scheduled to begin teaching high school French at Ocean Side at the end of August. Jerry will be in the hospital five to six months," she continued.

"Doctors at the Navy hospital have to keep a close watch on him in case the bullet-struck lung should collapse or a blood clot would develop. They also want to check for any other internal damage that might have occurred. Lynn called us Thursday afternoon and said Jerry was awarded the Purple Heart in a special bedside ceremony Tuesday. She also said that Jerry is coming along 'pretty well,'" added Mrs. Miller.

The senior Millers have two other sons in the Marines. Dick, 20, is now in Arizona. Charles Jr., 21, after being home on leave, left today for six weeks training in Virginia.

"I had three brothers in the service during World War II 23 years ago, and one of them was shot by a sniper in New Guinea," went on Mrs. Miller. "It's like re-living the whole thing over again now."

Gerald graduated from Brillion High School in 1960. In 1964, when he graduated from Marquette he had plans to enter law school, but he accepted a Marine scholarship instead. He plans to resume his law schooling after his service time is completed.

Expected Aug. 1
Bui Quang-Thach, 16, the foreign exchange student, is scheduled to arrive at a Milwaukee airport Sunday, Aug. 1. The Millers will be back from San Diego in time to meet the 11:30 p.m. plane.

Thatch's father, a photographer, had been contacted by Lt. Miller in South Viet Nam and the two had arranged and looked forward to a meeting.

That anticipated meeting will not take place now, but Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller Sr. and the children still at home — Dennis, 15, David, 10, Steven, 7, Sandra, 6, and Keith, 4 — members of St. Mary Catholic Church, will open their farm home and hearts to Bui Quang-Thach, a Vietnamese Buddhist, a week from Sunday!

Heat, Humidity Push Mercury to 91 in Appleton

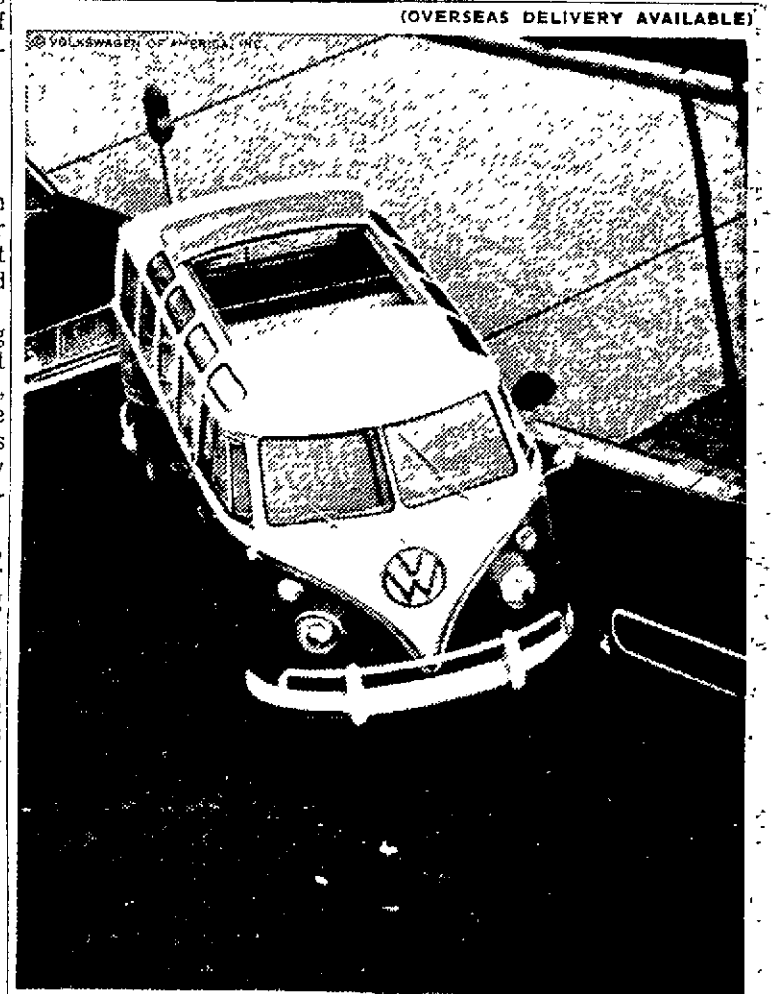

Steaming heat and humidity which enveloped the Fox Cities Thursday was expected to continue through today, with above normal temperatures forecast through the weekend.

Appleton's high of 91 degrees Thursday was three degrees below the record for July 22 set in 1940. But the mercury bubbled up to the 100 mark in Lake Geneva, and broke a 10-year record in Madison with a 98 reading.

Beloit and Lone Rock also reported highs of 98. Green Bay had 92, Racine 93, Milwaukee 89 and Superior 87.

Darkness didn't bring down the mercury much, with temperatures ranging from 62 at Superior to 76 at Beloit during the night.

Heavy fog developed during the night in the Fox Cities as well as Milwaukee, Green Bay and other areas. No rain was reported during the 24-hour period ending at daybreak today.

All of a sudden, it stops looking funny.

If you think a Volkswagen Station Wagon is just a funny-looking car maybe you never saw one fit in a space that regular wagons have to pass by and when you realize how much stuff you could put inside that thing like the Christmas someone drove one to their mother's with six people and the crib, the high chair, bicycles, luggage, presents, room? you couldn't ask for more and an air-cooled engine that starts in the morning 1-2-3 and when you stop at a gas station, $3 fills it up and you don't have to worry about gas for maybe 3 weeks and take kids for instance "Are we going in the Volkswagen bus?" and they say "Yay!" and clasp their hands and if it's a glorious day you can slide the sunroof back and let a little of the glory in and all of a sudden, it stops looking funny

2 Valley Mayors Appointed to National Group's Committees

Six mayors will be on one of the top panel programs to outline how their cities tackled a particular urban problem with communitywide help, the latter often considered the success formula.

New York Mayor
One of the panelists will be Mayor Robert F. Wagner, New York, who will be attending his last Congress as an official delegate, having recently announced his retirement as mayor of the country's largest city.

Other panelists will be from Detroit; Pikeville, Ky.; Atlanta, Ga.; San Diego, Calif.; and Greenville, S.C.

Other speakers for the five-day confab, which has a "Communities In Action" theme, will be leaders from the fields of business, labor, technology, education, the church and communications — all discussing their role in solving urban problems through cooperation with city and town governments.

Top 3 Were Close
The top three men were closely ranked, according to Mitchell and the interviewing committee. "All three were considered excellent men," Mitchell said.

The first time the city advertised for applicants and conducted examinations a few months ago, the city's first choice also declined to accept. A resident of the Detroit area, he reportedly received a sizeable increase in salary from his employer to remain there.

Pain in the Neck Result of Dime Error in Change

KAUKAUNA — An argument over the correct amount of change at a concession stand at the 175th Jubilee Celebration here Thursday night resulted in a neck injury to Maurey Skell, 526 Susan St., Combined Locks, when he was hit by the concession stand operator, Ted Sweitzer of Ohio.

According to police, Skell, his wife and the Arthur Betters family, 301 E. Seventh St., Kaukauna, demanded that they be given the correct amount of change, saying they had 10 cents more coming. One person in the group picked up a napkin holder and threatened to take it away if they did not receive the correct change.

At this point, Sweitzer struck Skell, who later complained of neck pains. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton, where he is being treated.

Sweitzer was told by police to report to the station today.

Lesson in English

By W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused: Do not say, "After carefully baiting the hook, a large fish was soon landed." This suggests that the fish did the baiting, and is an example of what is known as dangling phraseology. Instead, say, "After carefully baiting the hook, I soon landed a large fish."

Often Mispronounced: Louvre (famous museum in Paris). Pronounce loo-vr, accent on first syllable.

Often Misspelled: Papier-mache; observe the "i." Synonyms: Necessary, certain, inevitable, indispensable, requisite, essential, compulsory, needful, expedient.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: stigma; any mark of infamy or disgrace; stain caused by dishonorable conduct. "He was unable to bear the stigma of defeat."

For Guests at a Party Have a Puzzle Game

By CAPPY DICK

Today's party project is a toughie. The fact is, until each boy or girl at the party has completed his or her part of the stunt all other events will be held up.

The idea is to make jigsaw puzzles of the letters of the first names of those who will be present at the party, then have puzzle. When all the other letters of the names are cut apart and the pieces are jumbled together, the task of reassembling them can be a real challenge.

The letters should be printed on cardboard with crayon and then cut out with scissors. Make them big. Mark each letter with pencil as suggested in Figure 2, the lines serving as guides for cutting. Figure 3 shows the letter "H" after it has been cut up.

Place all the pieces of all the letters in a pile at the center of the table and let the party guests dig in and start forming their first names.

There should be a special prize for the first one to finish. However, all the other players must keep at it until they too have completed their names.

Aaron Paces Braves to 5-2 Win Over Dodgers

Clouts Three-Run Homer; Rico Carty Also Socks 4-Bagger

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves believe in sticking to a successful script. The ability to do just that brought the Braves a 5-2 triumph over league-leading Los Angeles and their 10th straight victory Thursday night.

Not much more than the score was changed as the heavy hitting of Hank Aaron powered the Braves past the Dodgers for the second straight night and cut the gap between the teams to three games.

For the second night of the brief series the Braves' first three batters again produced three runs on three hits, climaxing by a belt into the left field seats by Aaron.

O'Dell Relieves

It was Aaron's fourth homer in as many games and his 21st of the year.

Fitzgerald Hurls Foxes To No-Hit Win Over Gems

Fox Cities Sweeps Pair From Quincy, 4-0 and 6-1; Steve Herman Fires 4-Hitter

QUINCY, ILL.—Emmanuel kowski, Dick Hickerson and Fitzgerald pitched Fox Cities' Curt Motton. A passed ball by Larry Shoemaker allowed Woi-Foxes entered the Midwest League, leading his teammates to a 4-0 first-game victory over Quincy Wednesday night. The Foxes took the second game of the doubleheader, 6-1, on Steve Herman's four-hitter.

The Foxes and Gems close out the three-game stand-to-night before the Foxes move into Burlington for a pair of game with the Midwest League leading Bees over the weekend.

Fitzgerald was in difficulty only once in the game, retiring the side in order in five of the seven innings. In the second inning, he filled the bases with one out on a pair of walks, an infield out and an intentional walk. He then struck out two batters to end the inning.

Meanwhile, the Foxes were having their troubles getting runs off Gems' starter Paul Simeon. In the fifth, however, Elmore Hill led off with a walk and advanced on an infield out. The man of the hour—Fitzgerald—then hit a single to right to score Hill with the only run the Foxes needed.

Ray Woiakowski's double shortly after scored Fitzgerald with the second run. In the seventh frame, Fitzgerald doubled with two out and scored on consecutive walks to Woi-

Packers Shed Weight in Heat

2 Rookies Look Good on Kickoff Boots

Pack-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—Feast or famine?

It could be "feast," in one category at least, for Vince Lombardi, who has hungered throughout his seven-year Packers reign for a lead-footed kickoff specialist—one who would not permit the enemy to launch drives from near mid-field with painful regularity.

He now may have not just one, but three to choose from, at least B. C. (before cuts).

Logical Contenders

Lombardi, who in desperation turned to unfired Lee Roy Caffey last October, found two other logical contenders for the job in Thursday's workout, which capped an exhausting first day for 62 hopefuls, including 30 rookies, who perished profusely in the heat.

And one of them, "little" (5-11) and 175) Larry Moore of camp in mid-football shape, it's Central Michigan, boomed kick-offs five yards deep in the end zone quite consistently.

Steve Clark, another rookie from UCLA, also reached the goal line with regularity and although his talents already had been established, Caffey again impressed by booming two or three beyond the end line.

Perfect Kick

Expressing satisfaction with Moore's efforts, Coach Lombardi observed, "He was getting off what you would call an almost perfect kick—long, high and beautiful. He looks like a well-coordinated athlete."

"He reminds me a lot of Billy Butler—in his looks and his Caffey last October, found two other logical contenders for the job in Thursday's workout, which capped an exhausting first day for 62 hopefuls, including 30 rookies, who perished profusely in the heat.

Rampaging Twins Bomb Boston, 11-5; Yanks Tip Chisox

Pete Richert Leads Washington To 5-1 Win Over Los Angeles

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A good trade, says an old baseball axiom, is one that makes everyone happy.

Therefore, the multiple player swap between the Los Angeles Dodgers and Washington Senators Dec. 4 was a good trade. The Dodgers, who got Claude Osteen and Jack Kennedy, are happy. They have to be. They're leading the National League.

And the Senators are tickled pink. They got two good, solid starting pitchers, Phil Ortega and Pete Richert, along with the two other regulars, third baseman Ken McMullen and outfielder Frank Howard, and reserve Dick Nen.

He drove in three runs with a couple of singles and pitched a six-hitter — with one-out relief help — in leading the Senators to a 5-1 victory over the Los Angeles Angels Thursday.

Richert's two-run single in the second inning broke a 2-1 scoreless string for the Senators and was all he needed for the victory, but he added another RBI on a bunt single in the sixth.

The victory solidified the Senators' hold on eight — the highest position they've had for any length of time since they were formed in the league expansion five years ago.

It also pushed Richert's record to 6-8, which compares favorably to the 7-11 compiled by the departed Osteen with the Dodgers. In addition, Ortega has a 10-8 record, which means the Senators traded a 7-11 pitcher for 16-16.

Has One Homer

Kennedy is hitting only .189 with one homer as a sometime player with the Dodgers, while McMullen has 12 home runs, 36 RBI and a .254 average and Howard owns figures of 15, 52 and .280, both as regulars. Nen has a .226 average as a reserve.

And while the Senators were basking in the rarified atmosphere of their relatively high position, the Twins again called on Harmon Killebrew, Bob Allison and

Redlegs Knock Spahn Out in Third Inning

Cincinnati Edges Closer to Dodgers In Close NL Race

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Hank Aaron ever decides to get in step with the rest of the world the Milwaukee Braves are in trouble.

Putting his wrong foot forward as usual and playing despite an upset stomach, Aaron hammered his fourth homer in as many games as the Braves stretched their winning streak to 10 by whipping the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers 5-2 Wednesday night.

Aaron, who was forced out of the game in the seventh inning, has been Mr. Consistent for the Braves during their streak, hitting safely in nine out of the 10 games for a .412 batting average with the four homers and 11 runs batted in.

And the 31-year-old right-handed slugger, who went into the season with a .320 lifetime average, still hits all wrong.

Billy Herman, currently managing Boston but once a coach with the Braves, probably explained Aaron's manipulations at the plate best.

Off Front Foot

"He hits off his front foot and still gets so much power," Herman said. "That's against all rules of batting. But although he hits all wrong, he still manages to generate all that power, because even when he overstrides, his body and arms remain back."

And that, Herman said, means one thing: "You may fool his feet, but you don't fool his arms."

As usual, Aaron's arms are making just the right adjustments for his feet. His latest streak has lifted his over-all average to .332 and his homer outburst has raised his total to 21 — only two behind front-running Willie Mays.

Aaron actually provided the

NFL Considering Timing Device For League Parks

PITTSBURGH Pa. (AP) — The National Football League will test an official timing device at four exhibition games and a doubleheader at Cleveland this summer before club owners vote on whether to have it installed at all league ballparks.

"It's an expensive proposition and we want to be absolutely sure before we order one for each ballpark," said Mark Duncan, supervisor of NFL officials, Thursday.

Duncan described the new clocks at the opening session of the referees annual four-day meeting. League Commissioner Pete Rozelle addressed the officials briefly before leaving for California and his annual swing around the training camps.

Skoronski and his 61 colleagues shed more than 500 pounds during the course of the day, with rookie tackle Rick Marshall of Stephen F. Austin emerging as the champion weight loser. He weighed at 285 before the morning workout, scaled 272 following the afternoon drill. Elijah Pitts was second round of boys doubles in the St. Louis Invitational junior tennis tournament.

ST. LOUIS (AP) Mike Beene of Odessa, Tex., and Ronnie Kahn of El Paso, Tex., defeated Dan Bleckinger of Oshkosh, Wis., and Phillip Adams of New Orleans 9-7, 6-4 Thursday in the second round of boys doubles in the St. Louis Invitational junior tennis tournament.

King Drive to Focus On Racial Integration Of Schools in Chicago

First Major Effort in North
To Aim for Funds, Volunteers

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a spearhead of the civil-rights movement in the South, is aiming his campaign at Chicago this weekend.

The president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference was expected to arrive tonight for a briefing on the role in what he has billed as the first major effort in a Northern city.

Dr. King was invited to Chicago by the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations, an alliance of groups now concentrating on a drive for racial integration of the public schools.

The program coordinator, Dr. Alvin Pitcher, a professor at the University of Chicago Divinity School, said the purpose is to enlist people and raise money for the antisegregation forces.

Their chief demand is the ouster of School Supt. Benjamin C. Willis. They term him the main obstacle to ending alleged de facto segregation in the schools. The school system is based on the traditional neighborhood pattern and student bodies reflect the racial character of each area.

The Board of Education moved for a compromise settlement in May by voting to retain Willis after his contract expires Aug. 31, but only until he reaches the age of 65 late next year.

That didn't satisfy the anti-Willis groups and on June 10 they began a series of almost daily marches on the City Hall, chanting "Willis must go."

Daily Marches

The Willis foes have talked with Mayor Richard J. Daley and board members, but their differences on the superintendent's tenure persist.

Only a minute fraction of Chicago's estimated 900,000 Negroes have joined in the marches. The number of demonstrators has ranged from about 100 to 750, and those totals included many white persons.

The program for "We Can't Wait Weekend" calls for Dr. King to lead a march on city hall Monday.

Mayor Daley has invited Dr. King to meet with him Saturday. King will be busy then. He wants to meet the mayor Monday, when Daley plans to be out of the city.

Senate Gives Approval for State Park

MADISON (AP) — Two appointments to the State Aeronautics Commission were unanimously approved Thursday by the Wisconsin Senate.

The votes installed Harry Chaplin of Plymouth and Willard Pire of Eau Claire.

Also confirmed was the appointment of Carl J. Hagen of Menasha to the State Credit Union Review Board.

A Little of That Might be All Right

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before you complain about the heat:

The Navy's Amundsen-Scott South Pole station has recorded a record cold for the place, 113.2 below zero.

The Russian station at Vostok in Antarctica, however, is claiming the over-all record, 126.9 below.

$50,000 Appropriation

Finance Group Okays Ice Rink for State Fair

MADISON (AP) — The Joint Finance Committee has recommended approval of a bill appropriating $50,000 for the construction of an Olympic speed skating rink on the State Fair grounds in West Allis.

The favorable recommendation Thursday came on a 9-1 vote after members of the committee were assured the cost of the rink would not come from general funds.

Sen. Jerris Leonard, R - Milwaukee, said an amendment would be offered from the floor that would permit the State Exposition Board to borrow funds to finance the project.

Devil's Lake

A bill allowing cottage owners on the north shore of Devil's Lake in Devil's Lake State Park near Baraboo to extend their leases until Dec. 31, 1971 also was given a 9-1 vote for passage.

The leases expired last Dec. 31, but the cottage owners have been fighting efforts by the State Conservation Department to evict them so a public recreation and picnic area could be developed on the site.

The committee gave an 8-3 recommendation for approval of a bill requiring metal identification cards for tavern patrons to establish their age. Prior to the recommendation, the committee amended the proposal to provide that county sheriffs instead of registers of deeds issue the cards.

Laundress Shot For Smuggling In Viet Nam

Americans Getting Used to Vietnamese Battlefield Justice

By HORST FAAS
SOC TRANG, South Viet Nam

(AP) — A laundress attempted to smuggle powerful explosives concealed in her girdle into this important U.S. helicopter base two days ago, U. S. sources reported today. The woman was picked up at the base gate by Vietnamese security police, questioned, and then executed in a rice field at the end of the airstrip, the sources said.

Americans here fear that in the weeks before she was caught, she may have built up a cache of plastic explosives inside the base.

Americans here did not seem upset by the rough, battlefield justice dispensed by the security police.

Rough Area

"This is a rough area around here," one said.

"The Viet Cong are everywhere. This is how the Vietnamese security people handle them when they are caught."

U.S. sources said the 34-year-old woman had worked for several months at the base, washing the clothing of U.S. helicopter personnel and sometimes tidying their barracks.

They said Vietnamese security police noticed a suspicious bulge around her waist as she arrived for work Wednesday morning. U.S. security police at the gate saw the Vietnamese remove a string of explosives from under her petticoat and lead her into a nearby military post for questioning.

About an hour later, eyewitnesses said, she was placed on a truck with a Vietnamese officer and two soldiers. The truck drove to the end of the airstrip, and she was led out into the field — and executed, the eyewitnesses said.

U. S.-Egypt Relations Worsening

With Nasser Charge Against Envoy

CAIRO (AP) — Relations between the United Arab Republic and the United States appeared to be taking a new turn for the worse today, the 13th anniversary of the revolution that brought Gamal Abdel Nasser to power.

President Nasser charged Washington with making "astounding" demands on his government in return for U.S. aid.

The government news agency accused Bruce Taylor Odell, 27, political attaché of the U.S. Embassy in Cairo, of being an agent of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and said he got information harmful to Egypt's security from Cairo editor Mustafa Amin. Amin was arrested in Alexandria last weekend.

Speaking at a rally in downtown Cairo, Nasser said the United Arab Republic "faced many political and economic pressures from the United States. As the United States gave Egypt essential aid of wheat shipments, relations improved in 1959 and 1960, but as the wheat supplies increased, then began the pressure basically concerning Israel."

1963 Demands

Late in 1963, he asserted, the United States asked the U.A.R. not to produce nuclear weapons, to stop production of missiles, to freeze the size of the Egyptian army and to allow American officials to make inspections to assure the agreement was being carried out.

"I was astonished by these demands. Why not simply announce our country was an American colony?" he told the cheering crowd.

Nasser said the U.S. aid agreement, which has expired, totaled 80 million pounds ($184.8 million), "but we are not ready to sell our country, to depend on the United States for our existence and obey orders."

The government news agency said Amin, editor of the nationalized newspaper Akhbar Alyom, was picked up as he handed a weekly report to Odell.

Odell, the agency said, was released. The report did not say whether Odell would be expelled.

The U.S. Embassy had no comment.

Questioned By Police

The State Department in Washington confirmed on Wednesday a report that a U.S. Embassy officer from Cairo was questioned in Alexandria by Egyptian police.

Reliable sources reported four more Egyptians have been arrested in connection with Amin, including two newsmen from Amin's newspaper.

The sources also reported investigators claimed they had established that the CIA was paying Amin a monthly sum for information and that at least 10,000 pounds ($23,100) had been transferred by the CIA to Amin's bank account abroad.

Nasser witnessed today a military parade which included a flypast of what was announced as a new "supersonic Arab fighter." The parade also included Soviet supplied anti-air-

Plot Against Nasser

In Beirut, Lebanon, the newspaper Le Soir said Amin's arrest was connected with an abortive plot to bomb Nasser's villa in Alexandria. The newspaper did not give its source.

Le Soir said air force squadron leader, Mohammed Issa Nasr seized a Russian bomber on July 16 at Maamoura Airport, but airport control officers saw him and his confederates loading bombs aboard the plane. The plotters were challenged, but they resisted and four were killed, the newspaper said.

Nasr and a companion succeeded in taking off in time but were shot down 40 miles west of Alexandria, Le Soir said.

Many in addition to Amin were arrested in the plot, the newspaper said, including "two high officials" and a high official of the national defense ministry.

Congress Reaches Housing Accord

Quick Approval Expected on $350 Million Rent Subsidy Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new departure in housing legislation — subsidies to help low-income families pay their rent — was assured today after Senate and House negotiators hammered out a $7.5 billion housing bill.

The conferees finished work Thursday on a draft reconciling House and Senate versions. The compromise is expected to win quick approval in the Senate and House next week.

The rent subsidy proposal, to cost $350 million, generated most of the argument about the bill, and this section did not come out of Congress exactly as President Johnson and his housing advisers proposed.

To be eligible for the rent subsidy, persons would have to meet the same income qualifications that apply to those admitted to public housing. These depend on family size and vary from place to place. They are determined by local housing officials.

Alters Subsidy

This income limitation alters the effect of the subsidy program substantially from what the administration originally proposed. It projected the subsidies as a help for persons not so deprived financially as to qualify for public housing, but still unable to obtain in their communities adequate and sanitary craft missiles and navy rockets, shown for the first time this year.

Candace Mossler, 46-year-old widow of Texas millionaire Jacques Mossler, was served with a warrant upon her arrival in Texas Thursday. The warrant charged her with the murder of her husband, who was found dead in his plush Key Biscayne apartment more than a year ago. Mrs. Mossler was taken to jail after she was denied bond. # U. S. Depends Heavily On Wealth of Residents

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Even assuming Congress votes another federal income tax cut for us in 1966—on top of our whopping income tax reductions in 1964-65—more than three-quarters of all the revenues collected by our federal, state and local governments still will be coming from taxes on our incomes and property.

This is the highest percentage collected by any major nation on the incomes and wealth of its citizens. No other leading country depends as heavily as the U. S. on this form of taxation. No other industrialized country depends as little as we do on sales taxes, excise taxes or taxes on consumption.

While Congress already has significantly revised and reduced federal income tax rates and more surely will be done, our tax structure appears an oddity, next to the systems of European nations, Japan and Canada.

Compare Systems

The only fair way to compare systems is to consider the total percentages collected by all levels of government in each nation—federal, state and local. The following table, based on U. S. Treasury and United Nations statistics, covers the year 1961, because comparative percentages aren't available for more recent years. Tax laws passed since 1961, though, would alter the percentages in only a minor way. For instance, in our country the 1964-65 federal income tax cuts have been partially offset by state income tax boosts and the new federal excise tax reductions are being at least partially offset by state and local excise tax increases. In short, the basic comparisons stand as indicated below.

	Percent From Income Taxes	Percent From Sales Property Excise Taxes
United States	78	22
Sweden	66	34
Japan	66	34
England	65	35
W. Germany	65	35
Canada	61	35
Italy	52	48
France	50	50

One key implication of this table is that there is plenty of leeway here for a shift in emphasis from taxation on incomes and wealth to taxation on sales and consumption. Today, those urging this shift are in the minority: sales taxes are "regressive" because they hit the lowest-income family purchasing the taxed item to the same extent that they hit the highest-income family.

Nevertheless, as the search intensifies at all levels of government for ways to finance essential public programs—ranging from health to education, from highway construction to reclamation of our resources—heavier reliance on sales, excise and consumption taxes seems inevitable.

Another key implication is that much as we resent sales taxes and detest their indiscriminate character, our tax levels in this sphere are far below Europe's. This month Sweden's general sales tax jumped to around 10 per cent, more than double the rate of 4.2 per cent when the general sales tax was originally imposed in 1960.

Scandinavian Trend
A similar trend toward higher sales taxes is clearly apparent in other Scandinavian countries. France's 50-50 percentage speaks for itself. Some of France's sales taxes on luxury

Naked Nag Goes For Dip in Basin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Benja, a white drill horse, went for a moonlight swim in Washington's Tidal Basin with nothing but a rope on.

Benja was being loaded into a van Wednesday night after a pageant by the 3rd Infantry Regiment's Old Guard when he bolted the leaped into the basin near the Jefferson Memorial.

He swam across the basin to a boathouse but the dock was too high for him to scale. The Army called for mechanized reinforcements. After two smaller cranes failed to do the trick, the Army brought out one it uses to pull tanks out of ditches and Benja was brought to shore.

His nocturnal dip lasted more than two hours.

or scarce items range as high as 25 per cent. The aim of federal income tax cuts in recent years has been to stimulate our economy. "Reform" has been shelved temporarily and, assuming the objective of a 1966 tax cut is also sustaining economic growth, reform again might be postponed.

But when we finally do get to a real overhaul of our system, just simplification of our crazy-quilt federal-state-local structure will demand serious consideration of a more equal relationship between income and sales taxes.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

SHOULD AGED PARENTS LIVE WITH THEIR CHILDREN? YES ☐ NO ☐

Usually not, particularly if they are retired. Those who have no jobs of their own tend to meddle in the lives of other people. In trying to be helpful, they may become nuisances. Many parents live with their children because they cannot afford to live anywhere else. Some three generation families work out mutually satisfying ways of living together. A clear understanding of what each expects of the other helps.

This problem is discussed in greater detail in the booklet, "Making the Most of Your Years." To get your copy, send 25 cents and your name and address (including ZIP Code) to "Let's Explore Your Mind," care of the Post-Crescent.

New Spirit Aids Conservation

Expansion Triggered In Outagamie's Northern Areas

BY PAT DUFFEY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

BLACK CREEK — A renewed spirit of growth and development triggered by expansion in the Fox River Valley is underway in northern Outagamie County communities, officials from 10 county conservation districts learned during Wednesday's tour of soil conservation projects.

New schools, small industry, sewage treatment facilities, new homes, better streets and budding new recreation areas were some of the indicators.

In addition, neighboring farmlands are being developed and improved through cooperation with suggestions from the county Soil Conservation Service.

Vernon Geiger, Outagamie Soil conservationist, and Russell Luckow, county agent, conducted the tour for the group of 75, which included county agents and district supervisors.

Waupaca County Agent Advises

No Poison Danger If Crop Is High

If the major portion of the sorghum-sudan crosses crop is more than 18-20 inches high, you won't have to worry about prussic acid poisoning, advised Joe Walker, Waupaca County Agricultural Agent. This year, especially, it seems the height of the crop varies from 18-28 inches. Since this is the case, harvest should be based on the size of the majority of the crop, he suggested.

Insect damage shows on some of the fields. However, it isn't serious, he said. The crop is not cleared for atrazine use, but is not affected by it. Experiments have been conducted. Up to 10 pounds of atrazine has been applied over a three-year period with no affect to the sorghum.

The bogus metal roof painters are active again. The job they do and the material they use should be closely inspected," Walker warned. "Some of these paint jobs wash off with the first heavy rain. Check the material being used to be sure it is a good quality product that will benefit your roof and not just the painter's pocket."

"This is a place where your local firm is not going to cut corners," Walker assured.

Calumet Cows Set Records

Ott, Hacker Ayrshires Produce More Than 10,000 Pounds Milk

Cows from the herds of two Calumet County Ayrshire breeders have completed outstanding official lactation records.

Ayrshires on the farm of Silas Ott & Son, Menasha, completed its 17th year on official herd test with 33 lactations averaging 10,215 pounds of milk, testing 3.9 per cent and having 403 pounds of butterfat.

The high individual cow in the herd for milk was Sher-Ott's Beauty Bridget with 14,510 pounds in 305 days on just twice-a-day milking. The cow also was the top butterfat producer with 546 pounds.

Cattle from Ross Hacker herd, Brillion, completed its seventh year on official herd test with 21 lactation records averaging 10,964 pounds of milk, testing 4 per cent and having 441 pounds of butterfat.

Mar-Ral-Rosina, top producer in the herd, had 15,490 pounds of milk and 568 pounds of butterfat.

South Lakeshore 4-H

STOCKBRIDGE — The South Lakeshore 4H Club held a picnic on July 7 at the home of Earl Hemauer. A demonstration on summer accidents was given by Jane Hemauer, Barbara Moehn and Alice Wettstein.

A record book check will be taken at the next meeting at the home of Math Moehn Jr., on July 26.

National Farm Safety Week Scheduled to Begin Sunday

National Farm Safety Week starts Sunday.

In 1963 work accidents on farms in the United States took about 3,300 lives, equivalent to a death rate of 67 per 10,000 workers.

This is a higher rate than for any other major industry, except construction and mining, and about three times the accident death rate for industry as a whole.

Lack Of Caution

Machinery is the greatest single hazard on the farm. Nearly 900 deaths a year on farms are due to machinery accidents. Furthermore, studies show that tractors are the leading means of fatal injury in machinery accidents in Kansas, for example, about four fifths of the farm machinery fatalities were attributed to tractors.

Overturning accounts for most of the tractor fatalities, while falls from the vehicle also contribute appreciably, as most of these victims are run over by the tractor itself or by other farm machinery drawn by it. Few tractor accidents are attributable to mechanical failure or weather. Lack of adequate caution and speeding are the two main factors.

Drowning in farm areas, second in rank to machinery accidents, was responsible for about one sixth of the total deaths from non-transport accidents on farms in 1961-63.

Firearm accidents accounted for an additional ten percent. Next in order were falls, blows from falling objects, and fire and explosion.

The national observance has been called to stimulate safety efforts on the farms.

Seymour opened the tour. The finished product in the former community has attracted swimmers from the Fox and Wolf River Valley areas.

The Seymour lake is in the raw construction stage with most of the layout completed.

Robert Turkow of the Black Creek Homecoming Corp. outlined points of operating the $18,000 lake. Admission charges and supervised spraying have eliminated two major programs, he said. Maintenance costs and swimmer's itch hampered earlier operation.

"UDDER NONSENSE?"

"No, dearie, it's the truth. Next Tuesday is Dairy and 4-H Night at Goodland Field. The Foxes (Our heroes) play Clinton (Boo)"

"I don't want to sound bossie, but you'd better get there early. Milking contest & ceremony starts at 7:30 and the game starts at 8:00. Adults only 35c with pink coupon and calves, oops, kids only 15c with coupon."

"Don't forget that that doll, Alice in Dairyland, will be there in person. Lots of fun, free cheese samples and some toe-tapping band music, too! Hope they know how to play Cow-Cow-Boogie!"

Weekly bacteria counts are taken in cooperation with a State Board of Health study on artificial swimming lakes, their size and operation.

As the number of swimmers increase, (last year's peak was 3,000 on one weekend) the count goes up but has always remained within safe levels for swimming, he explained.

Bathhouse Planned

A bathhouse, delayed because of the threatening health hazard, will be ready for next year plus lifeguards. Fresh water is provided by natural springs and a constantly flowing well.

Wildlife development areas have begun to appear between Black Creek and Seymour on the marsh areas close to Black Creek. Level ditches have been constructed to encourage muskrat habitation.

Geiger contended that eventually the entire area would become a wild life habitation, particularly for ducks and geese. A private club with a pond, hiking trails and camping area has been developed in the area.

The Seymour area is built on a limestone formation. Seepage and erosion problems are compensated by tiling, strip cropping and longer grass rotations, Geiger explained.

Mayor Ben Truymen told supervisors of his surprise and delight when informed by Don Fraser, then secretary of the Businessmen's Association, that the group was considering a lake facility for the community.

The community lake is being carved from part of a 40-acre city tract in a natural wooded setting.

A bathhouse, beach and concession stand have yet to be developed. A 300-foot well will provide fresh water, and a second access road will be developed from the county fairgrounds.

Given To City

When complete, the facility, being developed by a non-profit community corporation, will be given to the city to operate. No tax money has gone into the lake, Truymen said.

More than $20,000 of the needed $25,500 has been raised from contributions. Admission will be charged and life guards provided. Work on the $125,000 community golf course is expected to begin soon.

Geiger indicated that laying of 1,200 feet of drainage tile will start next week. He urged district supervisors to take an interest in their small communities and help them develop small industries.

"It is a matter of stewardship with us," Vernon Tubbs told the group when explaining the extensive tiling needed through the years to keep his farmland from washing away.

Gullies two feet wide and two feet deep were common at one time, he said. A concrete structure serves as a tile outlet and fields are strip cropped for further protection.

Shiocton Flats

The Shiocton flats to the west was once a big lake, Geiger explained. It flooded over and reseeded itself. The soil is so fine it filters into drainage tile so no attempt is made to install it in the area. Instead surface drains and level ditching are employed.

The area west of State 47 has been diked to keep back the high river water in spring and developed for cash crops. Extensive wild life areas also have come to life.

The John Tickler farm operation sprawls over many hundreds of acres. Tickler and his son, Bruce, in addition to their cash crop farming, have developed a horse shoe pond for swimming and wildlife.

Tickler, who owns a construction firm, has made good use of his heavy earthmoving equipment to take land back from the maurauding river.

Divides Areas

Large long dikes with accompanying ditches divide cash crop acreage from wildlife area on the Tickler farm. Water is pumped from the cropland in spring into the wildlife area on the opposite side of the dike.

The Ticklers raise potatoes, snap beans, and sweet corn. When the season is over and crops harvested a cover crop of rye is planted.

Dale and Harold VanStraten operate a dairy and beef cattle farm with cash cropping and wildlife area development as a "1,200 acre sideline."

Dubbed the Everglades of Outagamie County, in the area the Van Stratens last year trapped 2,000 muskrats for their fur pelts. They have trapped as many as 3,500 in a season.

Spring water is trapped in the wildlife areas surrounded by wide-topped dikes. By mid-August or Sept. 1 they will start pumping water from the Embarrass River through a special channel constructed for the purpose.

The area took 30 years to develop in its present form

SAFE AND ALIVE IN '65 . . .

Watch Your Step . . .

Keep ladders in good repair with no loose rungs.

Keep Machines In Good Repair . . .

Keep all guards and safety devices in place. Stop machines before unclogging, oiling or adjusting them. Don't wear loose clothing around machinery.

The greatest number of accidents caused by tractors overturning occur while the tractors are being operated on the level ground.

8,400 Deaths to Farm

KEEP YOUR E

Keep These Commandments

- ☐ KEEP MACHINES IN GOOD REPAIR Keep all guards and safety devices in place. Stop machines before unclogging, oiling or adjusting them.
- ☐ OPERATE TRACTORS SAFELY. Start tractors smoothly, turn corners slowly. Avoid ditches, banks and soft ground. Always hitch to the drawbar.
- ☐ USE THE RIGHT TOOLS FOR THE JOB. Make sure your tools are in good safe condition. Keep them in a safe place and handle them with care.
- ☐ WATCH YOUR STEP TO PREVENT FALLS. Keep ladders and steps in good repair, with no loose rungs. Make sure they are easily accessible in case of an emergency and don't pile things on stairways.
- ☐ SPEAK TO ANIMALS WHEN APPROACHING THEM. Keep them calm by acting with calm self assurance yourself.

Ponds on Farms Can Be Dangerous

- The farm pond, long a useful farm resource, can become a death trap for swimmers when precautions are forgotten. To make ponds safe for recreational purposes, National Safety Council suggests:

- ✓ Place a fence that can't be climbed around the pond so children can't play there without adult supervision.
- ✓ Mark safe swimming areas.
- ✓ Place warning signs at danger points.
- ✓ Provide lifesaving devices, such as ring buoys, ropes or long poles.
- ✓ Post safety instructions for swimming and boating.
- ✓ Don't permit swimmers to swim

HARVEST OF FARM ACCIDENTS!

WEEK

JULY 25th- 31st

150,000 Deaths and 780,000 Injuries to Farm Residents Last Year . . .

Sounds a little incredible? Well, it's not. Each day many farmers work in the fields or in the barn, and suddenly somehow, sometime during the workday are injured or killed. Not only can an injury disrupt one or two workdays, but a permanent injury or death can totally change an entire farm or farm family.

The farm picture is constantly changing. With new machinery, chemicals and methods, it is a challenge to learn how to utilize them all safely. Unless you carry this new knowledge through in everyday practice, you are not fulfilling your responsibility to yourself and your family. You might, for example, know everything about a machine, but allow a boy barely able to reach the controls to handle a tractor.

What can safe farming mean to you? Success.

ARM SAFE

Steps for Safer Farm Living . . .

4 Keys to Pesticide Safety

1. To begin with, the most important thing to remember is to read the label. Read everything on the label and follow the instructions to the last word. Then:
2. Use the correct chemical at the right time for the job to be done. Use the appropriate respirator when required. Wear the prescribed type of clothing or skin covering as noted on the label or on special instructions. Be sure to wash your hands before eating or smoking when using chemicals. Keep children away from mixing, dusting or spraying areas. Seek prompt first aid or medical attention if a toxic chemical gets in or on your body.
3. Correct storage is the third step. All chemicals should be stored in a cabinet, room or building that can be locked. To protect children and animals, promptly return to safe storage unused portions that you wish to keep.
4. Finally, disposal of the pesticide is important. Never throw chemical containers or small leftover amounts in garbage cans or dumps. Always dispose of empty chemical containers immediately. Crush, break and bury metal or glass chemical containers whenever possible.

Soil, Water Conservation Jobs Underway to Improve Cropland

A number of soil and water conservation projects are in various stages of completion in Outagamie County, according to Soil Conservationist Vernon Geiger.

The Seymour Community Lake for which the agency provided the engineering, is nearing completion. The 2.7 acre swimming facility's dikes have yet to be seeded and a limited amount of work on the land remains.

Surface drains, multi-purpose farm ponds, and tiling projects are currently underway in scattered parts of the county.

Develop Pond
On the Delbert Schmeichel farm, town of Center, a one-and-a-half-acre pond is being developed. It was approved last year for cost sharing. Alden Moeller, Town of Seymour, has a half-acre pond almost complete. It, too, was okayed for cost sharing last year.

A tiling operation which will drain 40 acres and improve cropland is almost finished on the Henry Letter farm, Town of Seymour. The joint project also serves land by LaVern Ehler, whose land adjoins Letter's farm.

It was started last year. About 10,000 feet of drain tile are being installed.

Root Systems
The project is designed to drain the wetlands in order to allow better development of drop root systems. The tile will keep the water level down to three feet. Under earlier conditions root systems were kept too wet to properly developed resulting in a reduced crop yield.

Water control also is the purpose of surface drains on the Les Malueg farm, Town of Deer Creek. Terraces also have been installed in the mile-long area.

Myron Vande Walle, Town of Oneida, also has installed surface drains and terraces to improve his land. The silty soil needed a water control program for better cropland.

Diversions Prepared
Harold Tesch, Town of Seymour, is having a 1,000 foot diversion ditches prepared.

Wildlife area developments are shaping in the Town of Maine. Ed Schrage has started a level ditching program for wildlife. Louis Tachman has just completed 3,00 feet of level ditches as a duck and muskrat habitat.

Continue Preparations For First Watershed

Outagamie Agricultural, Conservation Agencies Map Duck Creek Drainage Area

The second in a series of meetings of Outagamie County agricultural and conservation agencies to develop watersheds in the county will be held Tuesday in the courthouse in Appleton.

Data on the Duck Creek Watershed which covers territory in Outagamie and Brown Counties is expected to be completed.

An earlier meeting was held to begin preparation of detailed information on various facts. Sub-committees were formed to outline specific areas which will be combined into a single report.

No Watersheds
At present the county has no watersheds but by Dec. 31 the proposed areas will be totally outlined.

The reports are being prepared by Randy Briggs, area soil conservation supervisor; Vernon Geiger, county soil conservationist; Russell Luckow, county agent; Jerry Reickhoff, area game manager for the Wisconsin Conservation Department (WCD); Wardens Dale Morey and Al Vander Bloemen; James Suehring, Farmers Home Administration; and Joseph Rickert, office manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The inventory worksheet for conservation needs will include the watershed size in acres and miles, location, number of farm in it, number of soil and water conservation district supervisors, a breakdown on types of resources in the area, recreation facilities, major soils, area irrigated.

Water Resources
Also outlined will be water resources including streams and lakes, and farm ponds.

The survey will detail watershed problems requiring project type action. It will outline floodwater damage as to area, frequency, type of roads inundated, extent of damage, fisheries and wildlife areas.

Erosion, sediment, pollution, agricultural water management including drainage and irrigation will be outlined.

Improvements Listed
Improvements already installed in the watershed area will be listed including land stabilization, fish and wildlife measures.

Train Leaders for Rural Communities

$192,890 Grant to UW Institute For Program in Depressed Areas

The Institute of Governmental Affairs, the University of Wisconsin Extension, has received a federal grant of $192,890 to train community leaders from economically depressed rural areas in the United States, Theodore J. Shannon, dean of University Extension announced today.

Approximately 50 participants will be recruited under the direction of the Farmer's Educational Foundation from 23 states, Dean Shannon said. They will be trained to return to their own regions as community action organizers and technicians.

Lawrence Suhm, director of the Center for Leisure Resources Development, will assist the Institute in the planning and management of the program which will begin Aug. 2.

Participants will be housed in The Towers, 502 No. Frances St., for four weeks while they will have classroom instruction. During the remainder of the 11-week session they will be supervised on-the-job in the field by experienced professionals. Field work will be in economically depressed areas of Wisconsin.

The grant for the program, Dean Shannon said, comes from the Office of Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

Participants in the training program will come from 23 states including Wisconsin.

Coronary Pain Can Strike in Many Places

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read an article stating that of 32 patients hospitalized for heart attacks, nearly half thought their chest pains were caused by indigestion.

How is the layman to know the difference between coronary attacks and indigestion? Should one contact his doctor for any and all belly disorders, which many of us experience from time to time? — A. V. H.

No, I don't think every pain of the innards warrants rushing to the doctor, but too many people fail to realize that a stomach-ache can be serious.

The study you cite is a convincing example, but there are others. Frequently routine electrocardiograms show a heart that has been damaged, yet the patient, surprised at the question, says no, he's never had any "heart trouble." Sometimes he can recall a particularly painful attack of "indigestion." Other times he can't. He just knows he's had pains or cramps from time to time. Well, some of them were, indeed, heart attacks, although not severe enough to knock him off his feet.

The pain from a coronary can strike in the pit of the stomach, the lower breast bone area or other parts of the chest, or in the back. Since it can be anywhere in such a fairly large area, you ask how a layman can tell when it means a heart attack.

Well, let me ask the question a different way: Suppose the pain isn't a heart attack? Does that mean you should just be a stoic and ignore it? No.

Consult a Doctor

Such pain can be from ulcer, gall bladder disease, hiatal hernia, constipation, gastritis, or just plain gluttonous eating. And I say that a wallowing good stomach-ache is reason enough to consult your doctor. Tests then can then be made. Once reassured as to the cause of your distress, you certainly don't have to trot to the doctor for each ache.

A pain means something wrong, maybe serious or maybe trivial, and it doesn't seem sensible to me to ignore a hard stomach-ache unless you can be sure, at the beginning, that it's really a heart attack.

In fact, the similarity between some gall bladder attacks and some heart attacks is so great that dissertations have been written on how to distinguish between them.

This question about whether to consult a doctor about every stomach-ache doesn't come from people who have once had a recognized heart attack. They usually start worrying when they get any kind of twinge from the chin to the belly button. They go to the other extreme.

But everybody can't have a heart attack. Some people must settle for gallstones, hiatal hernia, gastritis or even less glamorous ailments. Still, these diseases are worth curing, too.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 3-month-old son loves to sit in front of the TV and will laugh and coo as long as I let him watch it. Is there any danger in this? — T. Y.

There is no physical danger. Probably no other danger, either, as long as he doesn't get in the habit of demanding TV all the time.

Dear Dr. Molner: I help take care of a paralyzed woman who has a bladder infection. I wash out the towels she uses and wonder if I could catch the infection from these towels? — Mrs. O.

Washing the towels and your hands with soap and hot water, and careful rinsing, will protect you from danger.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Permit Bigger Trucks, Says Commissioner

Senate Highway Group Considers Assembly Measure

MADISON (AP)—Longer and heavier trucks on Wisconsin highways would not pose a safety hazard and should be permitted, according to State Motor Vehicle Commissioner James Karnes.

Karnes' views on a controversial Assembly-passed bill were disclosed at a public hearing Wednesday when Sen. Reuben La Fave, R-Oconto, produced a letter written to the governor's top administrative aide.

Karnes, who was reappointed by Gov. Warren P. Knowles, in the letter addressed to Roth Schlech.

"From the safety record established in other states where tractor-trailer - trailer (double) proposal, offered the letter at a public hearing Wednesday when Sen. Reuben La Fave, acting chairman and one of 10 authors of the proposal, offered the letter at a lengthy public hearing before the Senate Highways Committee.

Under the bill, 65-foot trucks could operate on Wisconsin highways. The current limit is 55 feet. The State Highway Commission would be granted authority to increase weight limits to a maximum 73,000 pounds as approved by the Bureau of Public Roads and the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Two Injured in Wednesday Accident

Two persons were injured in an accident at 3:59 p.m. Wednesday at Franklin and Superior Streets.

Mrs. Arthur Daelke, 1206 W. Lorain St., a passenger in a car driven by her husband, was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by Lindy's Ambulance Service after her husband's car was involved in a collision with an auto driven by Richard A. Schuchart, 39, 1400 N. Superior St.

Mrs. Daelke suffered chest injuries. Schuchart suffered a bump on the head.

17 Russian Ground-to-Air Missile Sites Being Built in North Viet Nam

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Seventeen definitely identified deadly Russian SAM-2 ground-to-air missile sites are now either completed or under construction in North Viet Nam—most of them in the strategically crucial Hanoi-Haiphong area.

Latest sites detected by U.S. reconnaissance flights are in the vicinity of a two-mile long rail bridge some 20 miles south of the Chinese border. Four SAM-2 sites are underway there to safeguard this vital bridge on the main rail line linking Hanoi and Nanning, a major Chinese military supply and communications center.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff rate this rail bridge a top-priority target, and have strongly recommended it be bombed.

Withheld Okay President Johnson has withheld the urgently requested authorization.

An estimated 40 per cent of Chinese military supplies to North Viet Nam pass over this bridge. The Joint Chiefs warn that unless it is destroyed in the next few weeks the Russians will have completed the four SAM-2 missile sites, and air strikes will become "prohibitively costly."

The SAM-2 is capable of firing both conventional and nuclear warheads. It has a range of some 30 miles and an altitude of 85,000 feet. It has the capability of knocking out of the air every type of U.S. combat plane being used in North Viet Nam attacks.

Although the Air Force and Navy maintain a close watch on the proliferation of missiles in North Viet Nam, no sites have been bombed.

Recommendations Rejected President Johnson has flatly rejected repeated recommendations this be done.

Military authorities particularly have advocated blasting the missile sites in the Hanoi-Haiphong area—main rail, port and depot centers. Their destruction would be a crippling blow to the Communists.

But every air strike proposal has been turned down, principally on two grounds: The virtual certainty of heavy civilian casualties in the densely populated section; the similar likelihood among the considerable number of Soviet "technicians" and "specialists" building the sites and manning the SAM-2s.

Too Late Congressional leaders have been told of one instance where the President's chary policy on bombing important North Viet Nam targets resulted in a futile attack.

For weeks the Joint Chiefs sought permission for large-scale strikes at a key military base in the Dien Bien Phu valley 185 miles northwest of Hanoi. Intelligence reports, including detailed information from a defector, indicated that the 316th Brigade, which participated in the envelopment of the French at Dien Bien Phu, was training at this base in preparation for combat operations in South Viet Nam.

Finally, on July 2, several months after the Joint Chiefs' initial recommendation to the President authorized an air strike. The mission was successful—up to a point.

Reconnaissance photos showed 18 barracks and other buildings destroyed. But no Communist troops. They had left the camp several weeks earlier.

Elements of the 316th Brigade are now fighting U.S. troops guarding the big airfield at Pleiku in the central highlands of South Viet Nam. Prisoners from this Red outfit have been captured.

Gloomy Outlook There is no likelihood the Kremlin will try to influence Hanoi to enter into negotiations until after the 23rd Soviet Communist Party Congress in late November or early December—if then!

That's what Vice President Humphrey is telling members of left-wing Laborite Harold Congress following his flight to London last week to accompany the return of the body of Adlai Stevenson.

While in the British capital, Humphrey had a long talk with Prime Minister Wilson. The latter gave a detailed account of Davies' recent unofficial "peace mission" to Hanoi. Wilson described it as "profoundly disillusioning."

"The Prime Minister told me," Humphrey recounted,

"that North Vietnamese assessment of U.S. leadership and public opinion is so unreal as to defy belief. Davies reported Ho Chi Minh is convinced the U.S. will tear itself apart wrangling over the North Viet Nam conflict, and that the Viet Cong believe they can exert powerful pressure on public opinion here by taking large numbers of U.S. prisoners." The forthcoming 23rd Soviet Party Congress will be the first since the one convened by Khrushchev in 1963. The Congress will determine the extent and control of the leadership of Premier Kosygin and party boss Brezhnev.

If they emerge dominant, they may undertake negotiation overtures. And then again, they may not. It's anyone's guess.

The county is expected to have further entries in clothing, hog and beef cattle.

U. S. Milk Production At 11,863 Million Pounds During June

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimates United States milk production for June at 11,863 million pounds.

This is slightly above a year ago and about the same as the 1959-63 average for the month.

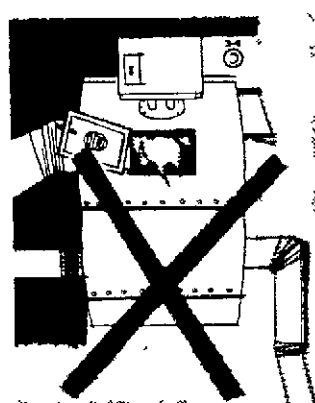

On a daily basis, milk production declined about one-half of one per cent from May, compared with a 1.3 per cent decline a year earlier. June production was equivalent to 203 pound per persons daily, compared with 205 pounds a year ago.

Output per cow in June averaged 25.2 pounds daily, compared from May but 3 per cent above June 1964.

Knowles to Sign Budget Bill With Tax Increases

Bill Passes Through Both Houses by Large Majorities; Up Revenues $73.7 Million

By HARVEY BREUSCHER
Associated Press Writer

MADISON (AP)— Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles will sign into law today a budget-revenue compromise that ends the long political feud over state finances and does it with income tax increases he pledged to oppose.

The bill sets Wisconsin's state budget for 1965-67 at a record $824.2 million. It is $171.7 million more than spent in the two-year period ending June 30.

New Taxes total $73.7 million. Income tax increases will net $52.4 million, a two cents a pack boost in cigarette taxes $18.6 million, and a franchise tax on financial institutions and other corporations $4.7 million.

The combined proposal was dispatched to the governor's desk Thursday after both houses of the Legislature approved it by solid majorities.

There was no debate in the Democratic-controlled Assembly where the vote was 70-28. But the Republican-dominated Senate spent 80 minutes listening to individual explanations before the bill cleared on a 22-10 roll call.

Sen. Leland McParland, D-Cudahy, a member of the 12-member bipartisan committee that drafted the compromise, called the final product a "monstrosity." He was one of five Senate Democrats to oppose the measure.

Sen. Gerald Lorge of Bear Creek, one of the five GOP dissenters, said wage earners in the lowest income brackets would bear the brunt of the income tax increase.

Other senators opposed were Democrats Taylor Benson of Franksville, Casimir Kendzior-ski of Milwaukee, Joseph Lourigan of Kenosha, and Wilfred Schuele of Milwaukee; Republicans Chester Dempsey of Hartland, Ernest Keppeler of Sheboygan, Alex Meunier of Sturgeon Bay, and Gordon Roseleip of Darlington.

The increase in income tax rates will be one-fifth of one per cent this year and next. The top rate of 10 per cent on earnings in excess of $15,000 is not increased, but the boost, otherwise, is across the board.

The higher rate amounts to about $2 on each $1,000 of taxable income.

Increase Retroactive
This year the increase is retroactive to Jan. 1. Since pay-check withholding rates do not cover the increase applied to the first seven months of 1966, most taxpayers will owe the state some money next April.

Deducted from the new revenue total is $6.1 million that will be lost through a shift to a simplified income tax return. Knowles asked for the new form and also insisted on cutting personal property taxes 10 per cent, or a total of $10.7 million.

New Leader Sought For Conservatives

LONDON (AP)— With Ed-ward Heath and Reginald Maudling the leading contenders, Britain's Conservative party began preparations today to elect a new party leader.

Former Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home laid down the party reins Thursday night, bowing to criticism that has

Treasury Chief
Maudling, former treasury chief, has the right family man image, with an attractive ex-actress wife, a pretty daughter with her own stage ambitions and three schoolboy sons.

He is quoted at events in the handbooks, stake a pound to win a pound.

On the negative side he has failed to show up strongly in recent debates, and some of his best friends think him too amiable to make an effective leader.

Soames, the outside shot at 25-1, would be the choice of the party traditionalists. Unlike Heath and Maudling, he came to politics from Eton and the Coldstream Guards, and his link with Churchill could be a vote catcher.

Showers to Shatter Shroud of Humidity

Fox Cities — Showers and thundershowers tonight. Saturday partly cloudy and cooler. Low tonight near 86 degrees. High Saturday near 82 degrees. Light southerly winds tonight becoming northwesterly on Saturday, with stronger winds in thundershowers.

Appleton — Observations at 10:15 a.m. Friday for the preceding 24-hour period. High: 91 degrees. Low: 68 degrees. Barometer: 29.9 and steady. Wind: 6 miles an hour out of the east, southeast. Relative humidity: 75 per cent. Dew point: 70 degrees. Skies: clear. Precipitation: Fog and dew early a.m. Temperature: 83 degrees.

Match For Wilson
The Conservatives are looking for a man to match Prime Minister Harold Wilson's rapier tongue in the daily cut and thrust of debate in Commons. The party has no deep ideological divisions, but younger members especially felt Douglas-Home lacked both drama and a needed streak of ruthlessness.

Heath, a foreign policy expert regarded as Douglas-Home's protegee and one of the fiercest debaters in Commons, was the front runner in London's betting handbooks at odds of 4-6, meaning a backer had to stake 6 pounds to win 4.

House Votes to Double Funds For Antipoverty

Slow-Going Is Expected When Bill in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to double — to $1.9 billion — the funds authorized for President Johnson's antipoverty program.

But the legislation the House passed Thursday despite Republican efforts to limit it faces slow going in the Senate, where it may have to compete for right-of-way with a controversy over reapportionment of state legislatures.

The victorious House Democrats had their closest call when Republicans fought to retain in the law a provision giving governors the right to veto certain poverty projects. The bill would eliminate this veto power, which opponents said is arbitrary and discriminatory and has enabled some state executives to override the wishes of local communities in shaping programs.

Veto Power
A Republican-backed amendment to continue the veto power lost 155 to 150 on a nonrecord vote and then 227 to 178 on a roll call.

On passage of the bill itself the vote was 245 to 158, with 24 Republicans joining 221 Democrats to make up the majority, 110 Republicans and 48 Democrats voting against.

Republicans argued that the program in its year of existence has become entangled in local politics and patronage and has been poorly administered.

One proposed amendment, which was defeated, would have barred the administrator of the program from holding any other federal job. Sargent Shriver, chief of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), also is director of the Peace Corps.

There were unsuccessful attempts to cut the funds, tighten state control over programs and clip the authority of the OEO.

Two of the farthest ranging of the poverty programs are the Job Corps, which under the bill would provide training and basic education in residential camps for 80,000 youths, and VISTA, the so-called domestic Peace Corps, which would enroll 5,000 volunteers to work on antipoverty projects in 200 communities.

However, Schultz said he sees no need to raise taxes.

100,000 Demonstrators March Through Athens In Huge Funeral Parade

Police, Troops Have Orders To Crush Any Riot Quickly

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — More than 100,000 shouting demonstrators marched through the streets of Athens today in a mammoth funeral cortege for a left-wing youth killed in political riots.

Riot police and troops kept watch over the vast crowd. They were under orders to crush the first sign of violence by followers of fallen Premier George Papandreou.

The crowd cried denunciations of the new Greek government, but under the threat of military intervention, the demonstration and burial took place without clashes.

Chaotic Scene
Police, who gave the crowd estimates, reported scores of persons fainted in the heat. The scene was chaotic at the cemetery, where thousands jammed the grounds, trampling graves and knocking over tombstones.

The demonstrators cheered wildly as Papandreou entered the cathedral where the body of 25-year-old Soirios Petroulias lay. Petroulias was asphyxiated Wednesday night during a battle between police and thousands of Papandreou supporters in which more than 150 persons were injured.

Stage Set in Thailand

Viet Nam--Only a Curtain Raiser?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Costly and bloody though it is, the war in Viet Nam may be only the curtain raiser of a struggle involving all Southeast Asia.

Red China even now may be ready to activate a new front. This may depend upon whether Peking believes the Communists in Viet Nam are close to victory or to a settlement which would mean exclusion of the U.S. presence.

The stage for the new front is being set in Thailand. Two organizations already exist there, the Thailand Patriotic Front and the Thailand Independence Movement. The patriotic front likely would have a role similar to that of the National Front for Liberation of South Viet Nam, formed in 1960 as a political cover for the Viet Cong.

The independence movement would be similar to the Viet Cong guerrilla organization.

Leaders of the patriotic front now are in Red China. These include Phayone Chulanont, described by Peking as a lieutenant colonel; Mon Kon Nanakon, who calls himself "liaison delegate of the Thaiand Independence Movement;" and Mrs. Quinim Pholsena. She is not a Thai but the widow of a leftist foreign minister of Laos who was assassinated in 1963.

Mon has been broadcasting to Thailand, issuing violent diatribes against the government of Premier Thanom Kittika-

chorn and "the U.S. imperialists." He says the war in Viet Nam is "similar to our struggle against the U.S. imperialists."

Peking evidently is financing a big propaganda drive against the Thai government through a clandestine radio called "Voice of Thailand."

This campaign began to gather steam late in 1964, adding to Thailand's troubles in its impoverished northeast provinces, a dust bowl region close to the Communist Pathet Lao area. The government says Chinese agents infiltrate regularly across the Mekong River. In December, the Communist propaganda announced formation of an independent national movement.

In northeast Thailand there have been killings, principally of officials of the Bangkok government. Reliable sources say armed Communists roam mountainous areas.

Shaded On This Map of Southeast Asia is Thailand, where the stage is set for a new front, according to William L. Ryan, AP special correspondent. Red China may be ready to activate the new front, Ryan says, depending on events in South Viet Nam. (AP Wirephoto Map)

House Talks Strategies for Summer Continues

Resolutions Reached for Group Commitments

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House recommendations and evaluations, is carefully weighed.

Movers confirmed that much of the discussion centered on "manpower requirements for present and future needs."

There has been unofficial talk of sending 100,000 more American troops to reinforce the 75,000 now in Viet Nam, and of calling up some reserves and National Guardsmen as well as extending tours of duty and stepping up the draft.

Higher Spending
Budget Director Charles Schultz told a Senate-House fiscal subcommittee Thursday "military spending will clearly be higher than the President estimated in January."

Schultz said the Viet Nam situation has upset plans to finance some administration domestic programs. It had been hoped, he said, to cover about half of a $4.3 billion rise in the cost of projects "allied to the President's Great Society concept" by savings elsewhere. But the budget director said "events in Viet Nam have overrun this forecast."

However, Schultz said he sees no need to raise taxes.

Bank Project Hikes Waupaca Building

$100,000 Construction Biggest During Month, Inspector Says

WAUPACA — Start of construction on the new Farmers State Bank helped boost building in Waupaca during the month of June, according to Otto Keil, city building inspector.

Appleton Man Gets 20 Days for Bad Conduct

'Semi-Threatening' Gesture Made at Telephone Worker

Duane L. Kroenke, 32, 702 N. Oneida St., was sentenced to 20 days in the Outagamie County Jail Thursday afternoon on a disorderly conduct charge.

He appeared in County Court, Branch 2, on a charge which stemmed from an incident early Thursday morning when he made a "semi-threatening gesture" with a .22 caliber at a Wisconsin Telephone Co. worker.

Kroenke told Judge Gustave J. Keller that he was acquainted with the two women who allegedly were victims of rapes one week ago. He said he mistakingly thought the telephone company worker fit the description of a man who allegedly committed the assaults.

The incident occurred at 2:10 a.m. at the intersection of N. Ballard Road and E. Wisconsin Avenue, just outside the Appleton city limits.

Saw Car Stop
Ronald Geurts, 1408 N. Leona St., told Appleton Police and Outagamie County Sheriff's Lt. Joseph VanderOver that when he came up from a manhole where he had been working, he saw a car stop near him.

The man got out, Geurts said, and told him, "Hold it, Buddy." After Geurts asked Kroenke what he wanted, he was told, "I want to look at your face." Then Kroenke told Geurts that he was "the wrong guy."

Geurts said Kroenke was holding a "Luger-type pistol" during the incident.

A few minutes later Appleton police found Kroenke's car parked and locked at the Auto Mat Auto Wash, 1714 E. Wisconsin Ave. While police were searching around the building Kroenke approached them, walking east on Wisconsin Avenue. He had a pistol and a holster in his hand.

Dropped Pistol
Police told Kroenke to drop the pistol to the ground which he did. He was then taken to the police station for questioning and then to the county jail where he was booked on a disorderly conduct charge.

Kroenke told Judge Keller Thursday morning that he always carries the pistol in the trunk of his car because he often fires it when he travels "up north."

Judge Keller continued the case until 2:30 p.m. Thursday when Kroenke was sentenced.

Cost of the new bank was listed only in excess of $100,000, but it is by far the largest building to be started in Waupaca during the first six months of this year. The new bank is being constructed at Fulton and Washington streets.

Besides the bank building permit, only seven other permits were issued during June, according to Keil. They include three new homes, one at 1002 Seventh St., being built by Allen Pohl for a cost of $14,500; a new home being constructed by Diversified Sales on Park Street for $15,500, and a 25 by 26 foot home being built by Frank Carey on Evans Street for $25,500.

Obtains Permit
The Soo Line Railroad obtained a permit to raze an old building on Redfield Street which was formerly used as a pickle station.

A remodeling permit was issued to Automotive Supply Co. Main Street for a new storefront plus other remodeling. The project is expected to cost $1,000.

The other permits issued include one to Robert Strebe, 907 Demerest St. for the construction of a new garage at a cost of $550, and to Wesley E. Hawkins Jr., 1112 Berlin St. for a $4,000 home addition.

Chilton Man Retires From Bank Career

CHILTON — Howards Grove State Bank president William F. Stauss, a Chilton resident for the past 50 years, has retired after 30 years with the firm.

He has served as president for the past eight years and will continue in the position. He will also retain his membership on the board of directors and on the loan and discount committee.

After graduating from Oshkosh Normal School, now Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, Stauss became superintendent of schools in Calumet County after teaching several years.

Stauss began his banking career in 1922 with the Commercial Bank. He worked as a bank examiner, beginning in 1932, and became assistant cashier of the State Bank of Howards Grove in 1936, a position he continues to fill in an advisory capacity.

Stauss served as a school board member for about 30 years.

He is also a charter member of the Chilton Kiwanis, a 32nd degree Mason, a Tripoli Shriner, a member of the American Legion and a member of the Eagles Club.

Clintonville Social
CLINTONVILLE — The Senior Luther League of the Christus Lutheran Church will sponsor an ice cream social from 3:30 to 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the parish hall lawn. In the event of rain, the social will be held in the parish hall.

At the Request of Waupaca Police Chief Fred Rasmussen, five divers staying at Camp Cleghorn, near Waupaca, investigated the depths of the old granite quarry near the northern edge of the city. The divers learned the quarry has an average depth of about 30 feet with some spots going down as far as 55 feet. Visibility near the bottom of the quarry, owned by David

Shambeau, is poor and the water temperature is below 50 degrees. There are several underwater hazards, the divers reported. Three of them are from a Milwaukee club and the others are from Stevens Point. The same group recently recovered the body of a youth who drowned in Long Lake. (Post-Crescent photo)

Improvement for U. S. 41

County's Legislators Request Second Butte des Morts Bridge

MADISON — All of Winnebago County's state legislators Thursday introduced an amendment to the Highway Building bill to get improved bridge facilities on U. S. Highway 41 over Lake Butte des Morts.

State Assemblymen William A. Steiger (Rep., Oshkosh), David O. Martin (Rep., Neenah) and Floyd Shurbert (Rep., Oshkosh) and State Senator William A. Draheim (Rep., Neenah) co-sponsored the Butte des Morts bridge amendment along with Assemblyman Glen E. Pommerening (Rep., Wauwatosa).

The amendment calls specifically for a second 2-lane bridge over Lake Butte des Morts. The regular annual inflation of highway construction costs.

"Recent studies show an annual daily average traffic count of over 10,000 vehicles on the Butte des Morts bridge. On peak days, as many as 22,000 cars and trucks use the bridge. In the summer months the daily average is almost 15,000. Everybody who drives or rides knows first hand that this situation is getting worse instead of better," Steiger said.

"The legislature is now considering providing the funds for speeding up construction of the highways in the western part of the State. There simply is no good reason not to include the construction of a second Butte des Morts bridge," Steiger explained.

"The users of the Butte des Morts bridge have been put off for years by the State Highway Commission. Now the legislators from the area are taking direct action. By attaching an amendment to the Highway Building law prepared and promoted by the Highway Commission, we are telling the commission that they can wait no longer. The Butte des Morts bridge situation requires top priority on anybody's building program," Steiger concluded.

"Highway 41 is one of the best known routes between the Milwaukee and Chicago area and the vacation lands of northern and northeastern Wisconsin. The Butte des Morts bottleneck is certainly no stimulation to increased tourist traffic and increased tourist dollars for Wisconsin's economy and tax base."

"Moreover, the longer the Highway Commission waits to build another bridge, the more it will cost. The cost of the second bridge, even if built this year, would be at least 25 percent more than the present bridge when it was built in 1955. Therefore," Steiger declared, "not only is the State losing bridge situation requires top priority on anybody's building program, we're losing out because of the program," Steiger concluded.

First and second graders will attend Wednesdays at the same time. The groups will meet in front of the city hall.

For Older Children
Rather than have a story-reading session for anyone beyond the second grade, the library board will start a year around reading program. Certificates will be awarded for books read and for the greatest number of books read.

The library is now open to the public 24 hours a week including Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons and Friday evenings. Last month the library checked out 2,385 books to readers.

bullet went thru his lung just one inch from his heart. The Millers received word just this week about their son being wounded.

"My husband and I are flying to the hospital at San Diego on Monday to see Jerry," stated Mrs. Miller. "We don't know exactly how critical his condition is. When he was shot there was another marine right next to him. Thank God! This man called for aid. Jerry spent two days at a small Saigon hospital where he had numerous blood transfusions. From there he was transferred to a larger hospital in the Philippines and then was flown to a Navy hospital at San Diego."

Gerald's bride of seven short months, Lynn, is living in Ocean Side, Calif., 30 miles from the San Diego hospital. She is scheduled to begin teaching high school French at Ocean Side at the end of August. Jerry will be in the hospital five to six months," she continued.

Weyauwega to Act On School Budget

$612,000 Total, Tax Levy of $374,000 Proposed for Action By New Joint District Monday

WEYAUWEGA — A budget of $612,694, $374,373 of which will be raised by local tax levy, will be presented to the voters at the annual meeting of the newly formed Joint School District No. 2, Monday.

A reorganization, which went into effect June 14, incorporated nine outlying schools with the high school to form the joint district from a union district. With this reorganization, comparative figures for the receipts and disbursements are not available.

To raise the $374,373 tax levy, a rate of $15.25 per $1,000 equalized valuation will be needed. The equalized valuation of the district is $24,549,100, compared with $22,872,700 last year, an increase of $1,676,400.

School Supt. Merle Jarchow estimated a tax rate of $15.29 per $1,000 would have been needed last year to operate all of the schools now in the district. Some of the school districts had rates as low as $3 per $1,000 equalized valuation because they were operating on cash balances rather than tax levy.

Additional expenses brought about partially by taking in the outlying elementary schools total $65,813. Comprising this total

Lucey to Talk To Waupaca Democrats

Lt. Gov. to Speak At County Picnic Near Big Falls

WAUPACA—Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey will be guest speaker at the Waupaca County Democratic Party summer picnic Aug. 1 at Little Falls Resort near Big Falls.

Tickets for the annual event are now on sale and have been mailed to party members, according to Del Beno, county chairman.

Beno said each Democratic party member also has been mailed a copy of the county constitution and a copy of the resolution which was introduced by Waupaca County members and adopted at the State convention held last month at Green Bay.

This is the first time a resolution introduced by Waupaca county has ever been adopted at the state convention.

The resolution calls for action by the federal government to raise farm prices to 100 percent of parity and also calls upon the Johnson administration to make a greater effort toward educating the general public, making them fully aware of the great service rendered to the economy the American farmer and to place the "so-called cost" of farm programs in their proper perspective.

Chilton Attorney Completing Term As Lion Director
CHILTON — Edward S. Eick, Chilton attorney, is completing a two-year term as a director of Lions International this month.

There are twenty-six directors. Eick is the fifth to be selected from Wisconsin in 46 years.

During his term Eick visited clubs in 27 states plus Mexico and Canada. He returned July 11 from Los Angeles, where the International board meeting and convention were held.

Eick, who is affiliated with the Brillion Lions Club, has been a Lion for 34 years. He established a perfect attendance record for 33 of them.

Miller Electric Manufacturing Co., Appleton, supplied Morocco with a $4,941 order of gasoline engine-driven arc welders.

The Clintonville plant of Utility Tool and Body Co. filled a $19,036 order for tractors and parts for Thailand.

The Morocco and Thailand sales were financed by U.S. economic development programs.

Brillion School Levy May Get $2 Boost

BRILLION — An unchanged tax rate of $15 per $1,000 of equalized valuation to finance the 1965-66 $429,291 budget may get an additional $2 per $1,000 of equalized valuation tagged to it for a reserve building fund.

Electors attending a budget hearing this week indicated their approval of such a move which would put $43,461 into the fund. The proposal to cut down on borrowing when future construction is begun, would require a smaller bond issue to finance the building program.

The question will be reviewed at the annual district meeting Monday.

If the additional levy is okayed at Monday (July 26) night's annual school meeting, the $43,461 raised could be used only for the purchase of a new school site or towards expenses incurred in the building program. This fund would prevent the need for borrowing all the money if the bond issue is approved.

Berner-Shober and Kilp, a Green Bay architectural firm, has been appointed and educational specifications for a new school are drafted, according to school board president John Haun.

This committee, the school board members and the architect recently visited several potential school sites suggested by district residents.

Three candidates are vying for two positions to the Board of Education. The terms of John Haun and Walter Keller are expiring and they are seeking reelection. Michael Ariens is also a candidate.

Visit Sites
The building committee comprised of Mrs. Kenneth Dexheimer, Mrs. Edgar Mueller, Mrs. Howard Luckow, Allan Coenen, Ray Frisby, Mel Thorp, Norbert Geiger, Ed Rusch, Willard Tschantz, Harrison Weaver, Wilmer Strubeing, Herbert Bastian, Clarence Wolf and Robert Ambrosius has also been appointed.

Persons living within the old Forest Junction and Webster School Districts will vote at the Forest Junction School. Those living in the balance of the district will cast ballots in the Brillion School gymnasium.

Absentee ballots are available from Walter Keller, Forest Junction. Clerk of the School District.

Paper Demands Bring $10 Billion Spending

World-Wide Increases Cause Industry To Expand Equipment and Facilities

NEENAH—The pressure of an increasing world-wide paper appetite will cause the pulp and paper industry to spend $1.06 billion for new plant and equipment and modernization of existing facilities this year, and well over $10 billion in the decade ending in 1975, according to a mid-year analysis by Kimberly-Clark Corp.

The projection for this year represents a 13 per cent increase over last year's capital outlay. During the next 10 years the industry's capital expenditures for such expansion and plant improvement will continue at about a billion dollars a year, the company's economists said, and will reach a level of some $13.1 billion by 1975.

Worldwide consumption of pulp and paper and paper-board now at a 100-million-ton level, will reach 150 tons in 10 years, and nearly half of this will reflect increasing demand for printing and publishing paper, the report indicated.

To Meet Demand
To help meet the demand for such paper—which by 1975 will exceed 60 million tons worldwide, representing an estimated $80 billion market—the domestic printing and publishing industry which, together with Canada supplies half of the world's production, will invest about $500 million this year, K-C economists said. This would raise the total to nearly $810 million in ten years.

Principal technological innovations to be introduced center around more efficient material handling, continuous processing, instrumentation and gradual adoption of computer control over phases of process operations, the report said.

Research objectives also include development of new sources of raw materials and techniques for obtaining more yield from existing materials.

The study noted that the new Kimberly-Clark paper plant in Anderson, Calif. uses nothing but lumber and sawmill wastes, once burned as scrap, as its raw material.

Higher Income
The study said that in addition to the normal economic factors spurring growth (higher income and level of employment, growing population) increased demand for paper stems from the "knowledge" or "information revolution," itself stimulated by consistently rising standards of living.

The "knowledge industry" is said to represent 30 per cent of the gross national product and is growing twice as fast as the economy.

In the trillion-dollar economy projected for 1975, the economic states, printing and publishing and the paper industry output will each be around $29 billion, or approximately 60 per cent greater than the 1966 level.

Byrnes Proposal Part Of Medicare Package

Congressman's Plan Allows Doctor-Bill Insurance Through Matched Contributions

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Unwavering efforts of Eighth District Rep. John W. Byrnes (R-Green Bay) to provide voluntary health insurance in the Medicare program are responsible for the doctor-bill insurance provision included in new Social Security legislation.

Credit for the provision, which permits all persons 65 and older to contribute $3 monthly to be matched by the government to cover doctor-bill insurance and numerous other self-benefits, has been given Byrnes by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which reported the original measure.

Specifically, the doctor-bill insurance bill would pay 80 per cent of the doctor bills after the first $50, which must be paid by the individual.

80 Per Cent

The remaining 80 per cent of the doctor bills will be paid whether the doctor treats a patient at home, in a hospital, in his office or in a clinic.

Byrnes pointed out the original Administration bill had no provisions to take care of doctor and dental expenses.

The Medicare program is only one part of Social Security legislation which will come before the House next week. Other sections of this legislation include changes in Social Security benefits.

Authors Changes

Here also Congressman Byrnes was given credit by Chairman Mills for authoring two major changes in Social Security law.

The first of the items proposed by Byrnes would permit Social Security old age payments to persons over 72 years old who previously had not worked long enough under Social Security regulations to receive benefits.

If a widow or her husband had made Social Security payments for three quarters of a year (nine months) since 1937, the widow would be eligible to receive $35 a month in old age benefits under the proposal.

Under the old regulations, six quarters of working were necessary to receive any benefits.

Another benefit under the new bill, which Mills called the "Byrnes Proposal," would permit everyone to deduct 50 per cent of hospital insurance premiums for income tax purposes.

man, Green Bay — were named

Tilleman Mitchell

today to major committees of

Fremont Girl 10th Fatality in Winnebago

5-Year-Old Fell
From Truck July 12;
State Toll Hits 502

OSHKOSH — The death at Manitowish Thursday of Barbara K. Rodenack, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Gordon Rodenack of the Town of Wolf River near Fremont has raised Winnebago County's traffic fatality total for the year to 10 persons.

The death of a Sheboygan woman on a foggy highway early today brought Wisconsin's 1965 traffic toll to 502 compared with 570 a year ago.

Barbara K. Rodenack was injured on July 12 when she fell from a truck reportedly driven by her mother. The accident had not been reported to county police.

Coroner Art C. Miller and Sgt. Harold Pepler of the county police are investigating the accident today. Miller said he understood indirectly that the accident happened on County Trunk HH in the Town of Wolf River about noon July 12.

Severe Leg Injury
The girl was taken to Theda Clark Hospital, Neenah, and then later was transferred to a Minneapolis hospital. Miller said he heard the girl had received a severe leg injury.

Survivors include the parents, two sisters, two brothers, and paternal grandparents.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at St. John Lutheran Church, East Bloomfield, with burial in the East Bloomfield Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Bauer
Funeral Home, Fremont, after 2 p.m. Saturday until noon Sunday and at the church until services.

Chilton Worker

Mrs. Jackie Lee Nelson, 37, of Sheboygan was injured fatally early today when her car was involved in a collision with another vehicle during a dense fog on Highway 32 in northern Sheboygan County. She was alone in her car and was returning from work at Chilton when the accident occurred at 1:45 a.m.

Timothy J. Concannon, 16, of Worth, Ill., died Thursday night of a broken neck when he was thrown from his car as it rolled down an embankment along Highway 48 about six miles east of Cumberland in Barron County. Concannon's body was found about half way down the embankment and the auto was at the bottom. Daniel Crowe, 17, which he is a member of the board of trustees.

Cable Television
Among the proposals to be considered by delegates are those relating to municipal home rule, reapportionment, county reorganization, planning, metropolitan government, urban renewal, central city problems and federal regulation of CATV (cable) television systems.

Several Fox Valley cities have been approached by representatives of cable tv companies, their requests already having been rejected at Fond du Lac and Oshkosh. Some Northern Wisconsin communities have approved the systems.

Six mayors will be on one of the top panel programs to swung into high gear with more than 2,000 city and town officials from throughout the United States on hand.

The League, and its annual Congress, represent one of the nation's strongest and most active groups when it comes to municipal government opinion and lobbying on the local, state and national levels.

Tilleman and Mitchell are among several Wisconsin public officials scheduled to arrive here by plane later in the day.
The Congress will last through Wednesday with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to give the keynote address at the annual meeting Tuesday noon.

Sports Committee

Tilleman has accepted his assignment to the all-important, newly formed professional sports committee of the League which has been given a mandate to delve into the activities and complaints against major league baseball and football promoters engaging in shifting franchises.

The Green Bay mayor, serving his first term as chief executive of one of the most rabid professional football towns in the country, is also a member of the national traffic committee.

Mitchell, in his eighth year as Appleton Mayor, is a member of the key intergovernmental relations committee which will go to work Saturday afternoon to review and update existing policy statements of the League.

Emphasizing the role of the committee in announcing Mitchell's appointment, Mayor Maier said the group's recommendations on a variety of proposed legislation — affecting all levels of government and cities large and small — will be presented to the resolutions committee on Sunday, and then submitted to the general delegate assembly for final action Wednesday.

Far Reaching Impact

Maier's tapping of Tilleman for the professional sports committee was timely and, he group's recommendations could have a far-reaching impact.

Tilleman's committee will debate what legislation, if any, should be proposed to regulate professional sports and have them come under Federal Anti-Trust provisions.

There has been considerable consternation in Milwaukee, and Wisconsin for that matter, with the finalized announced shift of the Milwaukee Braves Baseball Club to Atlanta, Ga. next year, and the present so-called "rump season".

The dispute between Milwaukee city and county with the Braves organization has echoed into the halls of Congress where some federal lawmakers say they are considering legislation.
Milwaukee Franchise

On the other hand, considerable interest is being shown by Green Bay, Milwaukee — plus the National Professional Football League — over the possibility that the American Football League will get a Milwaukee franchise.

Professional boxing, considered at its lowest ebb, has also attracted the attention of the nation's lawmakers and is likely to enter the discussions here.

The highway traffic slaughter across the nation will also occupy the thoughts of League officials and delegates whose communities are directly affected by the appalling rate of lives lost in pedestrian and vehicular accidents.

In addition to representing the City of Appleton, Mayor Mitchell is also participating in the Congress as a voting member on behalf of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities of the country's largest city.

Other panelists will be from Detroit; Pikeville, Ky.; Atlanta,
Ga.; San Diego, Calif.; and
Greenville, S.C.

Other speakers for the five-
day conclave, which has a "Communities In Action" theme, will be leaders from the fields of business, labor, technology, education, the church and community — all discussing their role in solving urban problems through cooperation with city and town governments.

New Canadian Flag Featured At Saturday Shriner Event

GREEN BAY—Two flags of distinction will play important roles in the Tripoli Shrine Summer Ceremonial here Saturday.

One is the new Canadian flag, a regulation size banner with two bright red bars on each side of a white field bearing a red maple leaf. It had been the center of intense feeling between different national and political factions north of the border and was in part responsible for the fall of a Canadian prime minister.

The second flag, seen in public only three times, is a huge Old Glory. The monster flag is 141 by 93 feet and will be carried on to City Stadium turf
Saturday night by 124 Shriners.

Part of Program

The flag exhibition is only part of the huge ceremonial here Saturday. Billed as a "salute to Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, the ceremonial will include the initiation of more than 200 Wisconsin men into the Tripoli Shrine, a parade through downtown Green Bay in the afternoon, and a 2 1/2 hour variety show—headlining comedian Jack Benny and Singer Vikki Carr—Saturday night.

The gigantic American flag, making its fourth public appearance, previously had been seen only at the Shrine-sponsored East-West football games in San Francisco. The 124 men will unfurl the 350 pound nylon flag at City Stadium where the Benny show begins at 9 p.m., and preceded by Shrine activities beginning at 7:45 p.m.

'Greatest' Parade

The parade, which general chairman Russ Winters calls
"the greatest to be seen in Green Bay's history" will begin at 1 p.m.

It will start and finish at Jefferson and Cedar Streets.
From the start, it will proceed west on Cedar Street to Washington Street, then south on Washington to Crooks Street, then east on Crooks to Jefferson and north on Jefferson to Cedar Street. More than 2,000 Shriner in marching, band, motor and animal units, and drum and bugle corps and floats will take part.

One of the highlights of the outline how their cities tackled a particular urban problem with community-wide help. The latter often considered the success formula.

New York Mayor

One of the panelists will be Mayor Robert F. Wagner, New York, who will be attending his last Congress as an official delegate, having recently announced his retirement as mayor of the country's largest city.

Other panelists will be from Detroit; Pikeville, Ky.; Atlanta,
Ga.; San Diego, Calif.; and
Greenville, S.C.

Other speakers for the five-
day conclave, which has a "Com-

Vocational School District Bill Passed by Assembly

Provides for 20-25 Area
Divisions

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin would have from 20 to 25 vocational school districts created throughout the state by 1970, under terms of a bill passed by the state Assembly.

Endorsed by Gov. Warren P.
Knowles and guided by Assemblyman David Obey, D-Wausau, the measure was overwhelmingly approved 94-5 Thursday.
About half of the new institutions would include Wisconsin vocational schools already in operation.

The wide margin of passage belied the skepticism held by many of the assemblymen about several parts of the proposal.

Amendment Attached

One amendment attached to the bill would prohibit the technical schools from becoming junior colleges. The change, offered by Assemblyman Frank Nikolay, D - Abbotford, would limit the vocational schools to technical training in cities already served by a liberal arts institution.

"We don't need another system of higher education in Wisconsin," Nikolay said. "Some schools would go into the liberal arts field full steam ahead with an eye to becoming a junior college."

Assemblyman William Steiger, R-Oshkosh, objected to the amendment because he said it would "force duplication, not prevent it."

He contended the new schools could avoid the requirement by constructing facilities outside of the city, but still in the same district.

Tuition Stipulation

Another amendment that was adopted would stipulate that resident students pay tuition amounting to 20 per cent of the instructional costs of the college credit courses. The present practice of no tuition for taking technical courses would not be changed.

The vocational districts would be created with the counsel of a newly established Board of Vocational, Technical and Community Education. The present vocational boards on the local level would be replaced by seven-member area boards, which would administer the districts.

The bill also provides that after this year the state will pay 30 per cent of the salaries of teachers in the technical programs and 100 per cent of the instructor salaries in the liberal arts courses.

In the Senate, three members were appointed to a conference committee set up to settle differences between Assembly and Senate versions of a bill appropriating $400,000 for new collegiate institutions in the Racine-Kenosha area and in northeastern Wisconsin.

They were Republican Sens.
Walter Hollander of Rosendale and Holger Rasmussen of Spooner and Democratic Sen. Taylor Benson of Franksville.

Heat, Humidity Push Mercury to 91 in Appleton

Steaming heat and humidity, which enveloped the Fox Cities Thursday was expected to continue through today, with above normal temperatures forecast through the weekend.

Appleton's high of 91 degrees below the record for July 22 set in 1940. But the mercury bubbled up to the 100 mark in Lake Geneva, and broke a 10-year record in Madison with a 98 reading.

Beloit and Lone Rock also reported highs of 98. Green Bay had 92, Racine 93, Milwaukee 89 and Superior 87.

Darkness didn't bring down the mercury much, with temperatures ranging from 62 at Superior to 76 at Beloit during the night.

Heavy fog developed during the night in the Fox Cities as well as Milwaukee, Green Bay and other areas. No rain was reported during the 24-hour period ending at daybreak today.

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—Hopes of northeastern Wisconsin boosters for the establishment of a state park in their neighborhood were encouraged Wednesday when the state senate unanimously approved a bill directing the state conservation department to plan such a facility at Thunder Mountain, Marinette County.

The measure now goes to the state assembly for review.

Sponsored by Sen. Reuben LaFave of Oconto and Assemblyman Robert Haase of Marinette, the idea has been presented in past legislatures without response.

The enabling act would require the conservation commission to list the project in its priorities list for recreational land acquisition under the new Outdoors Recreation Act program.

The conservation department advised the legislature that it could make no estimate of the fiscal consequences of the bill because it had not planned a park in that section of the state and has made no surveys there.

Wisconsin Student Loans

There is a disposition in these times to look to Washington for financial aid and service programs that never before were regarded as proper subjects for national government legislation. In part, we must suppose, because of the anxious publicity of the federal government establishment and ambitious members of the United States Congress. One example is the problem of financing the college and university studies of worthy but financially handicapped young people.

It is a useful footnote to these times, therefore, that the State Department of Public Welfare has matter-of-factly reported, without political fanfare, that the state government of Wisconsin during the last academic year disbursed nearly $3,250,000 in state loans to more than 5,100 students in Wisconsin colleges, universities and vocational schools. The loans are based on need, and are certified with the collaboration of high school principals and advisors on the campuses of the colleges and uni-

Causes of Sex Crimes

A long delayed report on sex crimes in the United States has been released for publication later this month and it sternly challenges some of the stereotyped ideas of the typical sex criminal or what motivates him in his repellent crimes.

Dr. Albert Kinsey and his associates interviewed more than 1,300 white men convicted of various sex crimes. The interviews took place between 1941 and 1955 and after Dr. Kinsey's death, the new director of the Institute for Sex Research, Dr. Paul Gebhard, began compiling the various statistics. Both men in prison and those released were interviewed.

Drugs turned out to be involved in few such crimes but alcohol was a major cause. More than 77 per cent of the men who threatened or used force against children were intoxicated at the time and 55 per cent of those who attacked older women had been drinking heavily. Young men were far more guilty of aggressive acts than older, and older women were more immune to attack. Pornography appeared to have little to do with the crimes. The murders of children following sexual attacks were seldom part of any gratification but rather either accidental or to prevent exposure. Such a small percentage of Jewish men were ever involved that the authors concluded that "there are elements in Jewish culture and family life that militate against the commission of crime."

Excellent Suggestion, Says Motor

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Aug. 31, 1885.

Delegates are elected not to express their own convictions, but to represent the views of their constituents, and the vote they cast is not their own but belongs to the people they represent. These people have sent them to convention, and for this reason we suggest all votes be taken viva voca (by voice).

When this is done we throw around our conventions a safeguard to prevent and defeat all attempts at corruption.

The above is a suggestion made by the Shawano Journal, in relation to taking the votes at the Union Convention, and endorsed by all the Union papers in the State have referred to the subject.

We could give a number of reasons in favor of this method, but believe the mere suggestion of the plan is all that is necessary.

It is the correct method and we hope to see it adopted, not only at the coming Convention, but at all similar Conventions.

Serviceman Protests Fine For Fishing Sans License

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Recently I came home on an eight-day leave from the U.S. Navy. While home on this leave I decided to go fishing. After checking with numerous people, including the owner of a sports shop where I was going to obtain a license, they all informed me that service personnel didn't need one.

While I was fishing in the Waupaca area I was stopped by a game warden and fined $15.50 for fishing without a license. When I came to pay my fine no one in the courthouse including the judge

knew it was a law or could find it in their books to prove it was a law. But yet I had to pay the fine. Don't you think something as important as this should be published? I was always under the impression that when a law was changed the public had to be well informed. If it was published how could so many people have missed reading it?

Maybe if you print this in your paper I will be able to help some other service man who has a few days at home and plans to spend it fishing.

Harriman Picked Poor Time For His Visit to Kosygin

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR
Ambassador Averell Harriman's mission to Moscow confronted three phases in the Viet Nam problem: immediate, short-range and final.

When this column (February 17) first described a prospect of President Johnson ultimately being forced to threaten atomic war against North Viet Nam, as President Eisenhower did against North Korea, Mr. Johnson promptly squashed "any thought" of it.

Yet in that eventuality, which grows closer as our casualties mount, the initiative for a truce would then pass out of the hands of Hanoi and Peking into the hands of Moscow.

Would the Kremlin leadership stand by and see us eliminate North Viet Nam, and even (if necessary) the war potential of Red China?

Thus the final phase of the problem in the horrible war can well be Russia's ultimate intentions, and surely this lurking cloud of a new U.S.A.-Soviet confrontation put an atomic element into the Harriman mission.

Moreover, Mr. Harriman arrived at an extraordinarily difficult moment.

The Russian expression for someone who has very little power is "short hands." Grave doubts exist that Premier Alexei Kosygin and party functionary Leonid Brezhnev, with whom Mr. Harriman conferred, really hold decisive authority. These doubts arise for reasons I am preparing to detail in another article.

Meanwhile, when the big fish fall out and fight the minnows get hurt and a power struggle—deeper and more intense than usually reported—is unquestionably going on at the second level of the Soviet hierarchy.

Those Numbers On Letters Really Have Purpose

From Miami Herald

The Post Office Department, in a constant effort to speed its couriers on their way, has come up with a remarkable mechanical device. Not only can it "read" ZIP code numbers, dispatching out-going mail automatically, but on incoming mail, it also can scan the second line of the address, with street and house numbers, to sort and stack letters for the carriers.

Field tests will soon be under way at Detroit and Buffalo. If successful, as the preliminary test models were, they may be put in other busy offices.

This is a long way from the days of the pony express and indicates other profound changes are on the way. If the machines take over it may soon be possible for Johnny to be a postman, even if he can't read. But we wonder if the makers of the mechanical marvel can teach them to always be sure to ring twice.

On the output side, in turn, they constitute the voice of former Soviet citizens who broadcast in 17 languages of the Soviet Union from transmitters in West Germany, Spain and Formosa.

Pravda and Izvestia are often confused by our public as being merely two large, twinlike Soviet newspapers. But each has a distinct status inside Russia. Pravda is the official party newspaper; Izvestia is the government newspaper. Pravda means truth. Izvestia means news. It's a prevailing joke in Moscow that "there is no Pravda in Izvestia and no Izvestia in Pravda." But the controlled editorials are nevertheless very significant.

Soft Justice Doesn't Halt Harsh Crimes

From The Philadelphia Inquirer

In three separate incidents in 10 minutes on a recent night in New York, four men were beaten, kicked and robbed. Shortly after the last beating, four youths, aged 16 to 17 were arrested by police and charged with the attacks. Two other boys in the gang got away. In court, Assistant District Attorney Patrick Moyhihan denounced the assaults as "unprovoked, senseless and wanton." Criminal Court Judge Mitchell J. Sherwin, who was presiding, declared that "Acting like a bunch of hooligans has got to stop." He noted at another point, "The people cannot walk the streets of our city in safety."

So what happened? After delivering his rebuke, the Judge fixed bail of only $100 for each of the boys. And when the mother of one of them complained that she could not raise that amount, the Judge paroled her son. Now, if city streets are being made unsafe by young thugs who rob unwary pedestrians, it will take more than hard words and soft justice to protect the public.

Wisconsin Report

State Is Near Tops In Nation in Weight Of Taxes on Citizens

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — A few months ago state officials responded indignantly when the U.S. Bureau of the Census published a report which stated that Wisconsin state and local tax collections for the past year measured on the basis of personal income were the highest of the 50 states.

Wyngaard

Presumably every civilian statistician who ever had a dispute with the income tax collectors about errors on his tax return enjoyed the public repudiation of the vast statistical force of the national census department. But in the chortling about the incident, perhaps, the fact was overlooked that even with the corrections insisted upon by Wisconsin state government authorities, the position of this state in taxing policy among the states gives it the dubious honor of ranking very high, if not the highest in the union.

Moreover, there is every indication that with the achievement of yet higher levies by the legislature and the local governments of Wisconsin this year, that position will be made even more certain, if Wisconsin does not rise slightly in the competition with its sister states.

HOW HIGH?
Accepting the "corrections" of the national government report as insisted upon by state officers, the per capita tax collections in Wisconsin for the 1963-64 fiscal year amounted to about $281, which would put the state in the doubtful position of sixth highest in the country.

On the whole, most public affairs critics prefer the measure of taxation as a percentage of personal income as more relevant. As corrected, the U.S. Census comparison would put Wisconsin about fourth among the states, at about $120 per $1,000 of personal income.

It is worth noting that when the so-called "Committee of 25" started its review of state fiscal problems about a year ago, it had available to it only the comparative figures for the 1962-63 fiscal year. This showed Wisconsin ranked significantly lower in the country for the weight of its state and local taxes. It was ranked 11th in taxes measured against personal income and 12th in taxes measured per capita.

That is a substantial rise in the course of a single year. If it is assumed that the trend will continue this year and next—and there is reason to suppose from the Madison perspective that it will do so—it won't be long before the state regains the top ranking that the U.S. Census Bureau earlier claimed, through apparent error, it had reached a year ago.

DIFFICULTIES
There are pitfalls in such comparisons, however carefully and conscientiously made.

The comparative charts, for example, give Wisconsin a more modest and perhaps more plausible and realistic ranking when state and local general expenditures—rather than tax collections—are measured. An obvious and major reason for the discrepancy is that other states spend more money raised through bonding and other forms of indebtedness than does Wisconsin—considering state and local disbursements together.

But that distinction is losing its validity. While this state for most of its history relied upon strictly cash financing for its state services and expenditures and was conspicuous in the federal union on that account, it is now rapidly reversing that policy. All recent graphs of local borrowing, moreover, show substantial increases at almost all levels of local government in Wisconsin. Thus in total spending, as in total taxing, Wisconsin seems likely to be among the leading states of the country.

Sign of Middle Age: Nostalgia for Old Car

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS
One of the sure signs of middle age is that a man's enthusiasm for his new car is not as glowing and unqualified as it was in his younger years. His satisfaction with the new is dimmed by his vague, nagging nostalgia for the old.

Harris

At least, this is my experience. A few weeks ago, I traded in my crate for a sparkling new model, with which I am generally pleased. And yet there remain vestiges of regret at parting with Old Paint.

She was a fine car, rugged and reliable. Moreover, as she became older, I was able to treat her with affectionate contempt—not caring if I dented a fender or scraped some chrome off the well-seasoned bumper.

Answers Given on Health Care Under Social Security

7 Per Cent Increase in Benefits Assured to Disabled, Survivors

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are questions and answers on the increased Social Security benefits and other welfare provisions in the Social Security health care bill:

Q. I am over 65 and receiving a Social Security retirement check. What increase does the bill make in that?

A. A 7 per cent increase, retroactive to Jan. 1 this year, with an increase of at least $4 guaranteed. The 7 per cent also goes to families under the survivor program and disabled persons receiving Social Security payments.

Q. When will I get the increases?

A. It is planned to reflect the monthly increase for the first time in your September check, which you will receive about Oct. 3. The retroactive payments for the first eight months of the year, through August, are scheduled to go out in separate checks about Sept. 15.

Earn More
Q. Does the bill increase the amount I may earn and still retain my Social Security benefits?

A. Yes, under present law you may earn up to $1,200 a year without loss of benefits; between $1,200 and $1,700, you lose $1 for each $2 of benefits. Under the bill you will be allowed to earn up to $1,500 without loss of benefits; from $1,500 to $2,700, you lose $1 in benefits for each $2 earned.

Q. Is a widow permitted to start receiving Social Security benefits at an earlier age under the bill?

A. Yes, she could go on the rolls at age 60 instead of age 62, the present minimum. But her monthly payment would be reduced to take account of the longer number of years she would receive it.

Easier Qualifications
Q. Is it easier for disabled persons to qualify for Social Security benefits under the bill?

A. Yes, present law limits payments to those whose disability is of long-continued and indefinite duration and is expected to result in death. The bill loosens up this definition so that benefits will be paid if the disability has lasted 12 months or can be expected to last that long.

Q. I am a widow receiving survivor payments under Social Security because I have children under 18. Does the bill extend these benefits?

A. Yes, the bill would continue payments for each child up to age 22 so long as he is a full-time student in college or other school.

Q. Does the bill provide any Social Security benefits for aged persons with only a slight amount of working credits under the system?

A. It would blanket under the system men and women workers and widows with as few as three quarters of credits. They would get a basic benefit of $35 a month. The present minimum credit requirement is six quarters. Quarters are three-month periods.

Farmer Benefits
Q. How does the bill affect Social Security benefits of farmers?

A. Low-income farmers would be allowed to accumulate higher credits than now available, and thus to qualify for higher benefits. A farmer with gross earnings of $2,400 or less would be allowed to report $1,600 as his net income, and thus as the base for his Social Security taxes, even though his net income was less than that. Under present law, if his gross earnings are $1,300 or less, he may report $1,200 as net income even though the net is below that.

Q. Does the bill bring any additional groups under Social Security?

A. About 170,000 self-employed physicians will be covered, effective Dec. 31, 1965. They are the only major occupational group not now in the system.

Affect of Tips
Q. How is income from tips affected by the bill?

A. Waiters, bartenders and others who receive income from tips will report it to the employer, who will make the appropriate paycheck withholding for income tax purposes and Social Security. But the employer is not obliged to match the tip income in his share of the Social Security tax, and is not responsible under the Social Security law if the employee does not report the tips to him.

Q. Will a widow who remarries find her status changed by the bill?

A. Yes, Under the law now she loses Social Security benefits based on her first husband's earnings when she remarries. But the bill contains a special provision enabling her to retain some benefits, at a rate of 50 per cent of her first husband's primary benefit instead of the 82.5 per cent available if she did not remarry.

Q. Does the bill grant exemption to any groups on religious grounds?

A. The Amish and other sects conscientiously opposed to acceptance of the benefits of any public or private insurance program, who long have sought exemption, finally will attain it in this bill.

Q. I am an old person receiving a welfare payment under the public assistance program. Will the bill make any difference in these checks?

A. It contains additional federal funds for all the public assistance programs so that payments can be increased about $2.50 a month to the needy aged, blind and disabled and about $1.25 a month for needy children. The payments are up to the states and local welfare officials, but the bill provides that the new federal money will be available only to the extent it is passed along to individual recipients.

Hospitalized Persons
Q. How about aged persons who are patients in hospitals for tuberculosis and mental diseases?

A. The bill for the first time allows federal matching under the old age assistance program for such persons. It requires as a condition for federal participation in such payments that better care must result from the federal funds.

Q. What changes are made in the Kerr-Mills program for the medically indigent — those who are not necessarily on old age assistance but are unable to pay their medical bills?

A. Benefits under this now vary widely between the states, with some not participating at all. The bill provides increased federal funds and requires that a participating state must furnish at least a basic minimum of services including hospitalization and doctors' fees. Eligibility standards will have to be liberalized to cover many additional persons in most states. Kerr-Mills will be extended to the other categories on the public assistance rolls — the blind, disabled and dependent children.

After a 40-minute service, Papandreou left the cathedral by a side street and the coffin was placed in a gilded hearse for the procession to the cemetery.

Hearings Delayed In Shooting of College Student

MADISON (AP)—Preliminary hearings for four youths charged with first degree murder in the fatal shooting of a college student were set back Thursday until Aug. 10-11.

Defense attorneys asked additional time to prepare their cases.

Accused of murder and armed robbery are John Burt, 20, and his brother, Thomas, 19, both of Loretta; Virtheil Popplewell, 19, Cincinnati, and Moir Reed Plaster, 19, Martinsville, Va.

They are charged in a $95 filling station holdup in which the attendant, Leroy Erdahl, 20, of rural Stoughton, a Stout State freshman, was shot to death July 1 near Madison. The four were captured three days later at Martinsville, Va.

Dane County Judge William Sachtyen granted the hearing postponement. Three of the youths have court-appointed attorneys and the fourth is being defended by counsel obtained by his family.

Astronauts Stranded By Gantry

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Technical problems plagued an important space flight rehearsal Thursday, climaxed by a bumpy gantry that stranded astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. for more than an hour in a spacecraft atop a Titan 2 rocket.

The gantry, which houses an elevator, refused to lift into place around the rocket after Cooper and Conrad had completed a practice run for their eight-day Gemini 5 flight, scheduled to begin Aug. 19.

Finally, a crane-like device called a "cherry picker" lifted a bucket up to the spacecraft, and the astronauts, clad in their space suits, were lowered 100 feet to the ground.

A faulty electrical switch was blamed. Failure of this same tower to fold back, also because of an electrical problem, caused a 76-minute delay in the countdown on last month's Gemini 4 launching of astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II.

Air Force Lt. Col. Cooper and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Conrad also were participating in a vital test for the Gemini 6 mission during which an attempt will be made to link up with an agency satellite.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford will pilot the Gemini 6 craft.

200 Petition For Release of Namu the Whale

SEATTLE (AP) — A Seattle man says he obtained 200 signatures in three and a half hours on a petition for the liberation of Namu, the captive killer whale.

W.L. Olson said Thursday he stood on street corners in Seattle and asked 250 passersby to sign.

The petition, directed to the American Humane Society in Denver, says the signers "object to anyone capturing, buying, or selling whales."

Namu was captured after he swam into the nets of two Canadian fishermen at Namu, B.C. He was sold for $8,000 to Seattle aquarium operator Ted Griffin and is being towed to Seattle in a pen by a tug.

Schlitz Notes Sales Increase

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. reported an 8.7 per cent increase in sales Thursday for the first half of 1965.

The firm said 4.3 million barrels were sold under the firm's four beer labels and Schlitz malt liquor, compared with 3.9 million barrels in the same period in 1964.

Robert A. Uihlein Jr., Schlitz president, listed earnings for the six months at $8.5 million, compared with $7 million the previous period. The profits were equal to $1.77 per common share, compared with $1.47 in the first half of last year.

DePere Toddler Strays to Tracks, Killed by Train

DE PERE (AP) — An 18-month-old child wandered onto railroad tracks near his home Thursday and was struck and killed by a train.

The boy was Paul Douglas O'Leary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin O'Leary of rural West DePere. His parents were searching for him at the time of the accident.

Sheriff's deputies said the tot had wandered away from two older children who had left him in a garage.

Fireman Ray Mishard of Pulaske, at the controls of a three-car North Western Railway train en route from Chicago to Green Bay, said he saw the youngster stray onto the tracks and applied the brakes, but was unable to halt the train before it hit him.

Negro Leaders Hit Racial Committee For Louisiana

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Two Negro leaders say Gov. John J. McKeithen is mistaken if he thinks a biracial commission on human relations will eliminate civil rights protests in Louisiana.

That was the reaction of Ronnie Moore of the Congress of Racial Equality and Murphy Bell of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to McKeithen's prediction Thursday that the proposed 40-man advisory committee on race relations would quell racial trouble spots.

"Negroes with any respect at all for the efforts of their race" can not serve on the governor's committee, said a joint statement by Moore, CORE's state field director, and Bell, Baton Rouge NAACP chapter president.

Medal of Honor Winner Wounded

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong ground fire wounded a U.S. officer who won the Medal of Honor in Korea and five other Americans late Thursday, a U.S. spokesman reported.

The six were wounded by a grenade fired at the helicopter in which they were riding.

The Medal of Honor winner was Lt. Col. Lloyd L. (Scottie) Burke of Stuttgart, Ark., commander of a 1st Division battalion.

He arrived in Viet Nam 11 days ago.

Immigration Change Supported in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial national origins quota system that has shaped U.S. immigration policy for 40 years would be wiped out under a bill that has won solid bipartisan support in the house immigration subcommittee.

By an 8-0 vote Thursday, the subcommittee approved a bill that would replace the quota system with a ceiling of 170,000. A new preference system would emphasize the reuniting of families.

Fight Against Poverty Failing In New York

National Program Feeds City Hall, Slum Dweller Faud

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

NEW YORK—President Johnson's crusade against poverty in the tinder box of New York City slums is failing, caught between two conflicting dogmas of the national program.

New Yorkers who know the situation sadly concede this. Yet, the results here are neither much better nor much worse than the national norm. Indeed, New York's problems are related to the contradictory dogmas proclaimed back in Washington.

Dogma No. 1 is local control of the program. This has been reiterated both by poverty czar R. Sargent Shriver and Vice-President Humphrey (who heads the virtually inoperative Anti-Poverty Council). They have expressed to the nation's mayors their confidence in local government running the anti-poverty crusade.

Local control conflicts head-on with Dogma No. 2: the principle, beloved by anti-poverty bureaucrats in Washington, that the program should be controlled by "the poor"—persons living in the slums, preferably of low income.

Mutual Distrust
What never seems to have dawned on the earnest but misled innocents in Washington is the mutual suspicion and dislike, not far from outright hatred, between "city hall" and "the poor" in every big city, and nowhere more so than in New York. One little-known reason poor Negroes and Puerto Ricans shun pre-school training under the poverty program is the fact that classes would be held in public schools. To the non-white poor, public schools are symbols of City Hall's misgovernment.

Moreover, the tired, 12-year-old administration of Mayor Robert Wagner stretches the dogma of local control beyond the Shriver-Humphrey concept.

With veteran Wagner aid Julius Edelstein calling the signals, City Hall puts its deadening hand on every aspect of the program. No wonder then that idealistic young men and women who took staff jobs with the poverty program here now are disillusioned.

Mayor's Veto
City Hall, for instance, actually regards the neighborhood units set up by the poverty officials to collect complaints from the poor as threats to the Wagner administration. In fact, Wagner men march in lock-step with Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley in demanding an absolute veto for the mayors over poverty decisions from Washington.

Similarly, "the poor"—or at least their most vocal representatives have stretched Dogma No. 2.

With undercover encouragement from some federal officials, neighborhood-level poverty workers talk about the program as an instrument of some vague "social revolution" aimed at the "power structure." They even make plans for a coup against City Hall by taking control of the 100-member city poverty board.

Friday, July 23, 1965

The Post-Crescent A 8

This pattern of city hall vs. the poor also shows up in Chicago, Cleveland, and elsewhere. But New York has its own peculiarities.

For example, City Hall takes a hands-off attitude toward Harlem, ceding suzerainty over that Negro ghetto to the demagogic Rep. Adam Clayton Powell. Dr. Kenneth Clark, a respected sociologist from City College here, was eased out of Harlem's Anti-Poverty Agency and replaced by a white-baiting Powell lieutenant. Naturally, the agency refuses to hire white staffers even though qualified Negroes are impossible to find, regardless of how high the salary.

Acting Director
More bizarre, City Hall has managed to block the appointment of William Van Den Heuvel as regional poverty director, with offices here, though he has been on the job in an "acting" basis for many months.

The main reason for this stems from the low-grade feud between Wagner and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Van Den Heuvel, a close friend of the Kennedys, tangled with Wagner in the 1961 campaign. Beyond this, City Hall regards Van Den Heuvel as a symbol of federal authority who is far too friendly with the poor. Thus, he soon will leave the program and return to private life.

Instead of rubbing out poverty as press releases promise, the poverty program so far has uncovered the shabby politics, unimaginative government, and conflicts between class and race that plague the big cities. Resolving these conflicts will require tighter direction from Washington.

Two Children Drown in State Waters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A two-year-old girl and a 10-year-old boy were among three Wisconsin drowning victims Thursday.

Two of the drownings occurred in the Eau Claire area. Allison Gay Honse, 2, of Delavan Lake drowned off a pier in Lake Delavan in Walworth County Thursday night.

Sheriff's deputies said the child's aunt, Jan Peterson, 20, took the girl and her brother, Jeffrey, 3, to the pier to swim. Miss Peterson began reading a magazine later and then returned to the house, thinking the girl had already gone back, deputies said.

Mark Rassbach, 10, Eau Claire, drowned in the Eau Claire River Thursday. Authorities said he apparently stepped into a hole.

The body of Lee Phillips, 56, Eau Claire, was found floating in the Chippewa River Thursday near Eau Claire. Dr. Robert Fink, deputy county coroner, said Phillips drowned less than 14 hours earlier. An investigation was launched.

tain areas, recruiting in much the same manner as the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

U.S. State Department reports tell of growing evidence that Thailand now is an important Red Chinese target, that terrorism has been noticeably increased, along with recruitment, propaganda and subversion, the latter financed by big Chinese purchases of Thai currency in Hong Kong.

Early this year a European traveler returning from Peking quoted Red Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi as saying a guerrilla war might be started in Thailand before the end of 1965.

The United States is committed to defend Thailand.

About a third of Thailand's 30 million people live in the northern provinces. The country has an 800-mile border with Laos, and the northeast people are largely Lao stock, easy prey to infiltration by the Communist Pathet Lao across the Mekong River.

About 30,000 North Vietnamese have been living in the area since the French war with the Vietnamese ended 11 years ago, and most are considered admirers of Communist leader Ho Chi Minh.

Another danger area is the southern prong of Thailand, extending to the Malaysian border. There lurk the remnants of the terrorists who were defeated a decade ago in Malaya.

A U.S. Special Forces group from Okinawa is working with Thailand's special forces in an antiguerrilla training program. Thailand also is fighting subversion with counterpropaganda, mobile development units to teach skills and help develop the impoverished northeast, and a series of programs aided by U.S. money and technical help.

The U.S. military installation in Thailand now numbers about 6,000 men, two jet fighter squadrons and other installations.

One difficulty is that about 20 per cent of Thailand's population is Chinese, a potential source of assistance to any Red Chinese enterprise.

Mother-Daughter Duo From Fond du Lac in Green Ram Production

Lorrie, Dianne Hull in 'Roar Like a Dove,' Current Show at Theater Near Baraboo

A Fond du Lac mother and daughter team up in the dramatic field in the current Green Ram comedy "Roar Like a Dove" at the summer theater midway between Baraboo and Wisconsin Dells.

The Lesley Storm play runs through Tuesday with 8:30 p.m. curtain times.

Working together in dramatic projects is not new to Lorrie Hull and her daughter, Dianne. They combined acting and directing talents in "The Miracle Worker" last year to win the Wisconsin Idea Theatre's highest award for community theater in the state. They recently appeared together in Fond du Lac in "The Diary of Anne Frank."

Mrs. Hull stars as the American wife of a Scottish highland lord in "Roar Like a Dove." Dianne plays one of the couple's six daughters in a role that's described as a "Charles Addams child."

The comedy of the current play evolves from conflict between the lord and his wife. She does not share the same enthusiasm as her husband for having a seventh child in the hope it will be a son and heir to his highland estate.

Bill Moyle, Madison, student at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, stars with Mrs. Hull as the Scottish lord.

Oshkosh Student One high point in the comedy is the arrival of the Scot's American in-laws and the contrast between two ways of life. Featured in these roles are Pauline Walsh, Burlington, and David Gilstad, Baldwin.

"Roar Like a Dove" was first produced in London in 1957. It became a favorite on the American summer circuit after its two-year British run. Betsy Palmer played the lead role in the United States.

The Green Ram production is directed by Wil Denson of Randolph.

The summer theater is located two miles south of Lake Delton on U.S. Highway 12.

Which to Choose Seems to be the question facing actor Carl Benson in Samuel Taylor's "Beekman Place," the current show of the Peninsula Players in their Theatre-in-a-Garden at Fish Creek. The two feminine stars (Benson does choose one in the play) are Jeannette Leahy, left, and Jeannet Bolan. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. tonight and Saturday and 7:30 p.m. Sunday, the last night of the show.

Comments from party-goers who've been to luaus in Hawaii were that the Beachcomber party Saturday evening at Butte des Morts Golf Club was better than the 'real thing.' Certainly the decorations set a tropical mood, with palm fronds and Hawaiian lanterns setting off the dining area. Guests too put on island airs. Most of the

length and shell jewelry complemented the bright leis that every guest received on arrival.

Ice carvings of a south sea god and a large sailfish decorated the hors d'oeuvre table. Here too, the south seas were given the nod of preference. Among the delicacies offered were caviar, smoked salmon, herring, and variety of tropic fruits. Roast suckling pigs were on the dinner menu, as were chicken, beef on skewers with sweet-sour sauce, and baked fish.

While the party-goers sat at their low tables, a Hawaiian band struck up music for early evening dancing. Later, there was an orchestra inside.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Larson and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mittlestadt were party chairmen. Decoration plans were carried out by Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Murphy; entertainment, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Trettin and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCrary; calling, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Nehs, and publicity, Mr. and Mrs. Milton O. Rueckl.

Guests Sat on the ground at low tables for their dinners. Above are James Arnold, Neenah, Mr. and Mrs. James Burke, Appleton, and Robert Wirth, Appleton. At right, sampling the many treats offered before-dinner snackers, are Mrs. M. J. Arps, Menasha, Mrs. Reinhardt Sabee, Appleton, and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Weir, Chicago, Ill. Below, the groups moved from low tables to buffet and back again as they tasted and approved the menu for the gala and colorful event. (Post-Crescent Photos)

The Handsome ice sculpture and the south sea decorations captured the imagination of Dennis Betzholtz, Milwaukee, and Miss Ellen Larson, Appleton, who were among the 500 at Butte des Morts Golf Club's annual Beachcomber Party Saturday. At left, talking over Hawaiian drinks, are Mrs. Fred Kampe, Neenah, Mrs. John Borg, Appleton, and Verne Haag, Appleton.

'Ups and Downs' of Waistline Debate

By LOUISE HICKMAN

ROME (AP) — In Italy's fall and winter fashion collections, the waistline debate has the Italian couture divided into two camps — high and low. Even within these groups there is division.

Ognibene-Zendman offered a compromise Wednesday, high waists counterbalanced by low seams or pocket detail between thigh and knee.

Their slender silhouette, skimming the knee, was softened by kimono sleeves cut in one with the high bodice. Long, wrist-length suit jackets had a high waist seam and came muffled to the nose in high matching scarves.

Jaguar Evening Coat

The Ognibene-Zendman bride wore a high-seamed jaguar evening coat over a shaft of lacquer red crepe. There was a hooded pants suit in giraffe-printed ponyskin, and a brown ponyskin

V-necked pullover and wide trousers slashed for a cape effect. Bianco, a new house in Rome, had a strapless culotte dress in tiger with deep sable cuffs on the pants legs.

A leopard tuxedo coat was rumpled in white mink, over a white wool dress with low hip belt and full pleated skirt.

Sarli put ruffled mink jabot collars on many of his stark suits. His silhouette was a molded one with low godet flare or pleats.

Silhouettes Soft

Titti Brugnoli's basic shape flared slightly from a closest point high in the ribcage.

Balestra showed a strict silhouette worked in strict reversibles.

Seams and edges of the Bales-tras evening clothes in double-face silk ottomans were traced in bands of bead embroidery. Schuster showed huge kimono-sleeved stoles over suits.

Shainbold Two-Way Finesse Not Even

More than 600 years ago the French philosopher Buridan stated that a donkey midway between two piles of hay would starve to death, unable to decide which pile to walk to. This sometimes happens to bridge players.

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the king of hearts and stared at the ceiling for several minutes, trying to decide which opponent held the queen of clubs. Finally he cashed dummy's king of clubs and led the ten of clubs for a finesse.

West took the queen of clubs and returned the three of hearts, throwing South into another stew. He would need only two heart tricks if the six missing spades were divided 3-3, but the odds were nearly 2 to 1 against this. There was also some doubt that West would lead away from a queen against a slam in notrump.

After more minutes of agonized doubt, South tried the heart finesse. Down one, thus proving that after 600 years a donkey is still a donkey.

Not Midway

South was not exactly midway between his two choices. The correct play is to lead a club to the ace and then lead a club to finesse with dummy's ten. If this wins, South can abandon the clubs and develop a third heart trick.

The advantage comes if the finesse loses. If East happens to have the queen of clubs he cannot safely return a heart. South will have time to test the spades before he has to make up his mind about the hearts. When the spades break 3-3, South can take his slam without further risk. Only if the club finesse loses and the spades break badly must South decide about the hearts.

There is an advantage in postponing a decision until all the evidence is in, and South should play in such a way as to keep this advantage.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one no-trump, and the next player doubles. You hold: S — 10 4 3; H — Q 5; D — 9 7 5 4 2; C — 6 5 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two diamonds. Bid any 5-card or longer suit as a rescue when you have only 7 to 4 points. You will probably do better at your suit than partner will do at notrump, and you are less likely to be doubled.

Mrs. Joseph Promer, above, left, explains the history of her costume to judges Mrs. William Winge, Mrs. John Phelain and Mrs. Cyril Klein. ## Bobbing Bustles

Kaukauna Ladies Sweep Away Years

BY JACKIE KRUG

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A page was lifted from a 1790 ladies fashion book and came to life Thursday evening on the streets of Kaukauna. Bustles bobbed briskly and skirts swept the sidewalk as costumed ladies turned out for judging in the 175th Jubilee costume contest.

Long puffed sleeves, flowing hooped skirts, cinched waists and high button shoes were not the most comfortable attire in 80-degree heat, but several clever ladies devised ways to beat the heat. One finely dressed miss in a blue dress with hooped skirt sat down to reveal a pair of thongs on her feet. Two bonnetted little ladies just high enough to reach a street-corner water fountain made good use of the convenience by splashing water on their faces.

Ladies Day

Thursday was designated Jubilee Ladies Day. Costume judging began early in the evening in the basement of Kaukauna High School with prizes awarded in 14 categories. A grand prize was given for the costume most authentic of 1790. The

From San Francisco, the spokesman said, the couple will go to Los Angeles and then to Tucson, Ariz., where they will be the guests of Lewis W. Douglas, former U.S. ambassador in London. Douglas' daughter, Sharman, is a long-time friend of the princess.

The spokesman said that from Tucson, Margaret and her husband will travel to Washington and then New York. In New York, another former U.S. ambassador to Britain, John Hay Whitney, will be their host.

The tour is scheduled to last three weeks but informants hinted it might be extended.

trophy was won by Mrs. Gerald Vanderloop, Kaukauna, for her black costume with flowing skirt and beaded shawl with matching ruffled parasol. The dress is believed to be over 120 years old.

Prizes were also awarded to the youngest and oldest ladies present, the most authentic dress made by the contestant, party dresses and sleeping attire among others.

Contrary to popular opinion, hems were down this season at the Kaukauna Jubilee.

Future Fashions

Now is the time to begin watching fall fashion trends. Looking ahead gives you the chance to spot the best in fashion. Then, when you start to shop, you are in a position to adopt from the best, the fashions that best suit your individual looks and needs. The process leads to excellence in dressing.

Based on previews of fall daytime fashions, this check list makes a reliable starting point for serious trend-spotting:

Silhouettes: Two directions — soft with hint of shape and flurry of movement; strict architecture, a la Courrèbes.

Hemlines: Many at mid-knee, some just below or way above.

Fur Trim

Coats: Lean, lightly shaped but with more stride; quite straight, belted soft and low; "little girl" shaping — nippy bodice, swinging hemline; more waistline belting; menagerie of fur trimmings and linings.

Suits: Jackets, very long or short (hipbone to waist); skirts move via pleats, drindl shirring, trouser pleating and panels; buttoned closings.

Costumes: Coats with shifty sweaters or overblouses; three colors and fabrics used in one costume.

Dresses: Bloused, bias, and belted; two-part smocks; coat-like; pleated from yoke, belted softly at waist; sleeves, mere suggestion to long.

Fabrics: Firm and supple, lacy and drapable; quieter surfaces; much plaid and paisley; widest possible color range — watch Bristol blue, gray, copper and rosy tones. (Copyright, 1965)

Third Ward School Class Plans Reunion

The Class of 1908 of the former Third Ward School will hold its second reunion from 4 to 9 p.m. Saturday at the Elk's Club. A 6:30 p.m. dinner will be served.

The gathering is open to all former students of the school.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Fred J. Warren, Muskegon Heights, Mich.; Mrs. William Muenster, New Holstein, and Mrs. Thomas J. Stroeb, Appleton. They will be assisted by Mrs. E. W. Shannon, Appleton, George Peotter, Appleton, and Mrs. Harold J. Leitner, Menasha.

Measuring Cheese

Kitchen arithmetic: you can add 1/4 to 1 cup of grated cheese to 1 cup of medium white sauce. One cup of lightly packed grated cheese is the equivalent of 1/4 pound.

The Ailing House Method for Cleaning Vase Told

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: What is the best way to clean a deeply carved Chinese lacquered vase?

A: Pull out as much dust as possible with the vacuum cleaner. Wipe out the remainder using turpentine and a small artist's brush. Rinse in warm, soapy water, followed by clear water. Wipe dry.

Q: How can I remove the top section of a gallon-size bottle: I'd like to cut it where the top begins to narrow, in order to make a vase.

A: Using a small triangular file, cut a groove where you want to cut the glass. Soak a piece of cord in lighter fluid, benzene, gasoline or even kerosene. Tie it tightly in the groove and light it.

While the cord is burning, plunge the bottle under water. This will produce a clean break along the heated groove. During the war in the Pacific, this was a favorite GI way to make a drinking glass from an empty beer bottle.

Q: During moving day, a section of marble top fell, and a corner was broken off. I rescued the piece, and would appreciate knowing how it can be replaced. It is off one of the

Your Problems

Writer Tells Why Industry Won't Hire Woman Over Forty

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was amazed and disappointed with your advice to Sandy, the woman whose husband got amorous on the beach after their midnight swims. She said she had trouble getting him to the cottage and it was a real problem. Her question was, "Am I being prudish or is he getting nutty as he hears the foolish fifties?"

Landers

You told the woman that since you did not know how much privacy they had around their cottage, she'd better get him into the house "where he belongs."

As a fourth generation Canadian I can tell you that shuttered windows and tightly closed doors are a hangover from the mid-Victorian days when sex was considered evil. The reason so many husbands stray is because their brand of married love is routine, matter-of-fact and downright boring.

A moonlit beach, a grassy slope, the sound of the wind whistling in the trees or the music of the surf beating on the shore will add new excitement and a dimension of glamour to any marriage.

So please, Ann, don't be so conservative. Encourage married people to add some spice to their love making. It could cut the divorce rate considerably. — Your Neighbor To The North

Hello Neighbor: What you say is true, but until I'm certain that a couple has complete privacy I will continue to tell them to go in the house where they belong.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Call my problem "Parking Lot Pigs."

My husband and I bought our first new car last week. We've always had second hand Katrinas so you can imagine how proud we were to be driving a shiny new sedan.

Yesterday we parked our car in a lot while we went to a movie. When we came back there were ugly scratches and chipped places where someone had rammed their car door into ours.

We asked the parking lot attendant about it and he said, "It happens all the time. Most people don't give a damn about somebody else's property."

Please Ann, say something in your column about this. — Disgusted

Dear Disgusted: Unfortunately what the man said is true. But one way to reduce the hazard is this:

Don't patronize lots that park cars so close together that unless you are built like an ironing board you can't get out of your car. In some lots it's almost impossible not to hit the door of the car next to yours.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My

front corners, so it would be quite conspicuous if missing.

A: You can try several effective methods. One is to join the corner with epoxy adhesive. Another — a favorite old-timer which is still perfectly good — is an adhesive paste of glycerin and equal parts of litharge (at drug stores) and red lead.

This is slow-setting, but makes a tremendously strong bond. A third is a thin mixture of plaster of Paris. Whichever you use, be sure the mend is firmly supported until the adhesive has thoroughly hardened.

wife died four years ago and left me with two daughters. I admit my girls are spoiled and selfish — and it's mainly my fault.

For the last eight months I've been keeping company with a fine widow who has four wonderful children. They are respectful, co-operative and top students.

My girls do not get along with the children of my friend and they are against our marriage. The widow says she wants to marry me and is willing to take her chances. My daughters are 13 and 14. Last night they threatened to run away from home when I told them I may be married in August. What do you say? — Mr. O.

Dear Mr. O.: Don't let your daughters bully you. Marry this woman in August and tell your daughters that your plans are made.

I've had dozens of letters from both widows and widowers who say they passed up a second marriage because their kids were against it — and they've been kicking themselves ever since.

Unsured of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you?

50th Wedding Anniversary To Be Observed

NEW LONDON — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kopitzke, 111 E. Warren St., will observe their golden wedding anniversary at a 1:30 p.m. service Sunday at Emanuel Lutheran Church. An Open House will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. in the church parlors. The couple was married July 25, 1915, at Waupaca. Mr. Kopitzke worked at Edison Wood Products until his retirement in 1957.

Child Who's Kitty Died Told It Is Too Sick for Visitors

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: This isn't a major problem, but which is best — to tell a child the blunt truth or to shield him from pain as long as possible?

Our six-year-old son has had several mice as pets in the past two years. By sheer coincidence, they have all died. This tunately, it started to be ill. We took it to the vet and he said it had distemper. Although he gave it the best of care, it died the next day at the cat hospital.

I haven't told our son about it. I just keep telling him the kitty is too sick to have visitors. I'm hoping that in another week he will have forgotten exactly what the kitty looked like. Then I want to bring home another kitty and tell him it's the same one.

My husband says this is completely wrong. He says that part of life is learning that everything dies. He wants to tell our son the truth.

But I'm afraid our son will decide he has no luck in loving anything. What do you think? Mrs. L. A.

Dear Mrs. L. A.: Without advance preparation, take your son to the pound and ask him to pick out another kitty. When he asks why, tell him you don't want him to wait any longer to enjoy having a kitty of his own.

This time, make certain it's healthy. Take it to the vet right away so it can be examined, and ask the vet to inoculate it against distemper. Explain to your son that you made a mistake before in letting him pick out a kitty that was already so sick it died soon after it went to the cat hospital. By taking the blame on yourself, you keep your son from deciding he has the "kiss of death." And with the new kitty in his arms, he isn't likely to mourn greatly for the first kitty.

Generally, it's wiser to protect a child from mistakes in judgment than from the truth. Your son probably already knows that everything dies. Now he needs to learn the important fact that he can count on his parents to help him cope with life successfully and learn to love wisely.
